NAVY ANSWERS NEW ATTACK BY COL. MITCHELL

Official Says Mechanics
Worked All Night on Plane for Lindbergh

NO ALIBI, SAYS MITCHELL
Former Air Chief Charges
Navy Works Against Aviation Department

Washington.—Because Colonel Lindbergh's plane was not ready for him when he wanted to fly to New York, Colonel William Mitchell has issued a bitter attack on the navy which is answered by Assistant Secretary Edward P. Warner, in charge of aviation for the navy department.

Mr. Warner insists that the mechanics worked all night and did everything they could to assemble the machine but that nobody felt privileged to take the machine for a test flight and that the defects could not have been discovered except by a test flight. Colonel Mitchell says the incident illustrates to him the incompetency of the navy in aeronautics and he renews his plea that a separate department of aviation be created as in Europe.

"The navy knew," he says, "that Lindbergh's flight would be a tremendous powerful lever to the cause of aviation with national defense, because the use of the airplane, an economical instrument, would cut down appropriations for battleships, save money for the taxpayer and sea power would become secondary to air power. It would mean that the direction of flying would be taken from the hands of the navy and turned over to actual flying men, such as Lindbergh, who would know how to handle it, make it safe and sure."

STATEMENTS CONTRADICT

Colonel Mitchell goes on to say that there was no excuse for the salt moisture being allowed to get at the plane during the sea voyage and that it could have been kept safe and dry. This view, however, is contradicted at the bureau of standards where the statement is made that no matter how well packed, only airplanes of very recent manufacture could withstand the effects of a sea voyage without corrosion. It is explained that corrosion does not occur in trans-Atlantic flying but only when the machines are packed and the motors are not running.

"It would be exceedingly unjust," says Assistant Secretary Warner of the navy, "were any impression to be created that any precaution which could have been overlooked in the assembly and testing."

The controversy, however, affords an opportunity for Colonel Mitchell to take the aviation question which he has waged with officials here ever since the days when he insisted that aircraft by bombing battleships from the air would make the latter of secondary value in national defense. One thing is sure—the Lindbergh flight and the reception given him by the American people have brought most everybody connected with aviation here to a realization of how serious is their responsibility for the efficient development of aeronautics.

SETTLE CITIZEN'S BANK SUIT AGAINST CITY FOR $40,000

Settlement Disposes of Last Tax Case Pending Against Appleton

The suit begun by the Citizen's National bank against the city to recover taxes paid on bank stock from 1921 to 1926, inclusive, amounting to approximately $40,000, was disposed of Wednesday night when the common council accepted the bank's offer to settle for $40,000.

The council's action closed the final bank suit pending against the city. Settlements already having been reached with the First National bank, which placed its claim at approximately $180,000, was settled for $200,000. This sum disposed of the claims of both the First National bank and the First Trust Co. Since 1921 the banks have been paying their stock tax under protest. Later they commenced actions against the city. The actions were not heard, however, both sides preferring to wait for the decision in the Hartford bank case.

A decision for the bank was announced by the United States Supreme court in March, which found that the state law taxing bank stock is invalid. The city and banks immediately took steps to dispose of their controversies.

LAUNCH HEALTH PROGRAM IN U. S. FLOOD DISTRICTS

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—Details of the plan by which the Red Cross proposes to spend $500,000 in health and sanitation work in the areas recovering from the Mississippi flood, were announced Thursday by Dr. William H. Tilden, national medical officer of the Red Cross. The Red Cross plans to institute 30 day health reconstruction program in all sections as soon as the emergency period is over, the announcement said. This program embraces the immunization of all returning residents against typhoid and smallpox, the purification of water supplies, destruction of all carcasses left by the flood, spraying all stagnant water to prevent breeding of malaria mosquitoes and personal health and nursing service.

POLICE SHOOT AT AUTO THIEF AS HE FLEES THRU YARDS

Bandit Leaps from Speeding
Car When He Sees Police
Chase Him

An automobile thief who leaped from the speeding machine he had stolen narrowly escaped death shortly before midnight Wednesday when police opened fire to halt his escape in the vicinity of College-ave. and Lave-st.

The thief made his dash for liberty as the police were bearing down on him and after he leaped from the stolen machine it crashed into a tree at Washington and Lave-st, smashing the front end of the car and almost splintering the tree at its base.

Following the mad dash for freedom made by the thief the police officers scoured the neighborhood for several hours but he escaped.

FIND KODAK

A folding kodak found in the stolen machine, which is owned by William J. Roemer, 706 E. College-ave, may lead to the establishment of the thief's identity. The kodak was found to have contained a lot of films among which were several negatives.

Police Chief George T. Prim in conducting his investigation of the case decided to have the negatives developed with the idea that the photographs may give some clue to the identity of the thief.

The theft of the car was reported to police at 11 o'clock Wednesday night when the car was seen leaving the home of 1015 O'clock and parked in the driveway. When he decided to put the car away for the night at 11 o'clock it was missing.

Mr. Roemer immediately notified police and Patrolmen Thomas and Radtke were detailed to work on the theft. Mr. Roemer's car is a Nash coupe and the officers having a description of the machine and its license number went to the scene of the theft.

JUMPS FROM MACHINE
After patrolling about the vicinity until after 11:30 o'clock the officers saw a machine going north on Lave-st across College-ave. It answered the description of the stolen car and Officer Radtke thinking the thief had an accomplice who was in the stolen car opened fire and the bullet imbedded itself in the spare wheel as the automobile veered to one side of the road and climbing the curb crashed into the tree.

Following this the two officers resumed their pursuit of the thief. Mr. Roemer's machine was taken to the police station.

The bumper was torn off, the front frame bent and considerable other damage was done.

REPORT ENGAGEMENT OF DOUG FAIRBANKS, JR.

Los Angeles.—(AP)—The examiner Thursday reported the engagement of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., to Helene Costello, sister of Dolores Costello, movie actress.

"I can't deny it," young Fairbanks was quoted as replying to an inquiry about the reported engagement. "Perhaps you had better ask Miss Costello. She is a wonderful girl and I admire her tremendously."

Miss Costello is in New York with her mother and sister. The examiner says that friends of the couple declare that when she left for the east she was wearing a solitaire diamond, and confessed that she and "Junior" were to be married. Both young Fairbanks and Miss Costello are playing in the films.

IN HUSBAND'S MURDER
Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—Dorothy Mackaye, actress, Thursday faced trial for attempting to conceal her husband's recent death of her husband, Ray Raymond, musical comedy star, who died after a fist fight with Paul Kelly, film actor.

ST. LOUIS ALL SET TO GREET HERO FRIDAY

Airman Goes Without Sleep to Cut Capers in His Spirit of St. Louis

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—St. Louis Thursday was ready to welcome its celebrated flier, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. A committee of 300 men and women has worked out plans for six public functions during the three day celebration. The celebration will start about 3:30 Friday when the flier is scheduled to arrive.

New York.—(AP)—Lindbergh, the tireless, taking New York by surprise with a moonlight hop to Washington and back in evening clothes to get his beloved "Spirit of St. Louis," went without sleep through another strenuous welcome Thursday. The young colonel was up all night. He reached his Park-ave apartment in Manhattan at 9:17 Thursday morning.

Changing to his Paris-made blue suit, he was ready for another day of acclamation, this time in Brooklyn, with its million and a half residents. The big borough gave a large share of its greeting through its children although the official welcome was extended at Prospect park.

Tens of thousands of youngsters, jamming the sidewalks along the 20 mile route over which Lindbergh passed, yelled their approval of their hero and waved flags.

Lindbergh, bareheaded as usual, rode in an open car. Showers of paper, fell on the colonel as he drove through lower Manhattan and the business district of Brooklyn. Colonel Lindbergh was hailed as a messenger of international good will by Rev. S. Parker, Catholic president of the Churches of Christ in America, who welcomed him to Prospect park.

After praising the trans-Atlantic feat and the character of Col. Lindbergh, Dr. Cadman said: "We value you most of all for your matured wisdom, gracious deference, inborn tact, simplicity and efficiency of nature and inflexibility of purpose."

"Your brief, but all-sufficient messages of good will have soothed the ruffled relations of internationalism and may yet function for their readjustment."

New York.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh again Thursday demonstrated his amazing youthful vitality when he hoped to Washington in the wee small hours, jumped into his "Spirit of St. Louis" and hopped back again to New York. He appeared over Mitchell field at 7:42 (daylight time) came down within 50 feet of landing, and then went into the air again. He then started a number of stunts over Mitchell and Roosevelt fields. The sound trip was made less than five hours. He hopped off in a borrowed army pursuit plane and a borrowed outfit at 3:43 and arriving at Bolling field, Washington at 4:34 (daylight time) Thursday morning, leaped from the plane to his beloved Spirit of St. Louis and took off again for New York at 5:09.

Greeting and showing all the pleasure of a boy with a regained toy, Colonel Lindbergh entertained himself and a few lucky spectators with a series of air stunts upon his return. He sidestepped, zoomed and looped the loop over Mitchell, Roosevelt and Curtis fields, before finally bringing his plane to earth.

Asked whether he was glad to be reunited with the plane that had carried him to Paris, he replied, "Oh, well," blushed and one of those famous grins spread over his face.

GOES WITHOUT SLEEP
The flight again demonstrated the amazing ability of the youthful flier to do without sleep. He had slept until noon Wednesday but from then on he was a continual whirl of luncheon, reception and theatre parties for him. Thursday he planned to take a short nap before beginning another crowded program of activities that was to start at 10:30 in the forenoon.

Lindbergh was attending a midnight show at the Roy theatre, given as a benefit for the dependants of the missing French fliers, Nungesser and Gail, when he apparently reached a sudden decision to get his plane which had been left behind in Washington, due to engine trouble. Unknown to most of the 6,000 persons in theatre, Lindbergh, accompanied by Grover Whalen, chairman of the mayor's committee, and Captain R. E. Byrnes, his personal representative, left the theatre at 2 o'clock and entered their automobile.

PINEDO WELCOMED BY DUCE AND COUNTRYMEN
Rome.—(AP)—Commander Francesco Pinello, Italian aviator, arrived at Ostia, on the coast near Rome at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon completing his sensational four continent flight. He was greeted by immense cheering crowds and officially welcomed by Premier and other dignitaries.

Cal Forgets Cares Of His Office Fishing For Trout

Rapid City, S. D.—(AP)—A racing mountain trout stream called to President Coolidge Thursday and after several hours of angling, he returned to the summer White House proudly showing a fine catch.

Far from the centers of population, the president turned to a new life Thursday in the Black Hills of South Dakota where blue-covered mountains and wild game almost begged him from the outside world.

In the center of 36 square miles of forests he has set up the summer White House in the state game lodge where for the next two months or so he will live in a region skirting the great farming regions of the northwest.

It was the farthest west Mr. Coolidge has come since he became president and no chief executive before him had traveled this far from Washington to live for such an extended period.

In the quiet retreat which will be his home, he has an ideal setting for rest and relaxation. While in a state of the game lodge cool mountain streams abounding in spirited trout await him. For both himself and Mrs. Coolidge, shaded paths, carpeted with fallen pine needles of many years, give a promise of many pleasant hours of walking. Solitude and natural scenery of charm and distinction inclose them from all sides.

While Mr. Coolidge acclimated himself to his new surroundings and rested from the fatiguing two day journey from Washington which necessitated many public appearances, his secretary, Everett Sanders, and the White House staff moved rapidly to perfect arrangements for carrying on the executive end of the nation's business. Space in the Rapid City high school has been set aside for their use. Plans of President Coolidge have not been definitely worked out, but it was expected that he would motor the 32 miles from the game lodge three or four times a week to meet visitors and transact business in executive offices. The trip to the game lodge is a good hour's ride.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge reached Rapid City at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon and as was the case elsewhere in South Dakota, received a warm welcome from the people who will be their hosts for the summer. As the president alighted a cannon brought over from Fort Meade boomed out the presidential salute of 21 guns and the crowds waved and clapped their hands along the line of parade to the edge of the city.

Weather Conditions Too Bad For Byrd's Take-off

New York.—(AP)—With his tri-motored Fokker monoplane America fueled and provisioned for its projected flight to Paris, Commander Richard E. Byrd Thursday faced a probable delay of several days in his take-off due to unfavorable weather conditions.

Atmospheric conditions over the Atlantic could hardly be worse than at present, the weather bureau announced. "There is no chance for a trans-Atlantic flight by Friday," said Forecaster James Scarr, who also declared the outlook for Friday is not very good.

Commander Byrd had previously announced he would not attempt the flight until the weather bureau had given its approval and indications therefore were the flight would not be made before Saturday and possibly not until next week.

"Questioned as to reports that he planned a flight around the world upon arriving in Paris, Commander Byrd in Lexington, Va., where an honorary degree was conferred on him by Virginia Polytechnic institute, said while he has considered the possibility of such a flight he has made no plans for one and that it is "more of a possibility than a probability."

DARGUE LAUDS FLIERS
Milwaukee.—(AP)—The guest of Milwaukee on a good will tour of 21 states, Major Herbert A. Dargue, who commanded the Pan-American flight, pictured American aviators as ambassadors without portfolios, overcoming racial prejudices and national differences by the magic of air transportation.

Major Dargue spoke Wednesday night at a banquet given in his honor by the association of commerce. He came from Chicago by train, abandoned his plane when trouble developed. He is to go to Waussau and several other Wisconsin cities. Bridging the seas and land was certain to be a paramount factor in world peace and good will among nations, he maintained.

Major Dargue said: "Aviators are linking nations together. In our Pan-American flight of 20,470 miles we took the road will of the United States to Central and South American countries. South America appreciates our visit and we realize the importance and good will of America. We should cultivate it."

"I pay tribute to Colonel Lindbergh," said Major Dargue. "He showed true American spirit and grit. Even greater than his feat of flying to Paris is his feat of diplomacy in bringing greater good will between America and France."

"I also pay tribute to Chamberlain and Levine. They brought Germany closer to the United States. I wish God speed to Commander Byrd, a very fine aviator and navigator."

DRY OFFICERS RAID 9 MILWAUKEE CAFES

Thirty Federal Prohibition Agents Make Arrests in Night Club District

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Thirty federal prohibition agents, including twenty from Chicago, Tuesday night raided nine cafes in Milwaukee's downtown district. Among the places were the Miami gardens, a night club in the Italian section, Crystal cave, a place long prominent in Milwaukee's night life, the Frolic cafe, also a night club.

Split into groups, the dry agents entered the places at a scheduled time, seizing alleged liquor, wine and beer as evidence and rounding up proprietors, bartenders, waiters, who were rushed to the federal building.

Scores of men and women patrons at the nine places when the prohibition crews struck fled into the streets. They were not molested by the agents who gave all their attention to searching premises, confiscating large amounts of beer, wine and gin, moonshine whiskey and beer and reading warrants to proprietors.

COOPER LEADS FIELD IN NATIONAL TOURNEY

Oakmont, Pa.—Harry Cooper, the Pacific coast professional, was leading the field at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the national open golf tournament here. He turned in a card of 77 for the last 18 holes, giving him a total of 201 for the 72 holes.

Only one stroke behind him was Gene Sarazen, the Flushing, N. Y., pro, with 202. Gene turned in a flashy 77 on the last round.

Walter Hagen got into a lot of trouble in the final round and turned in 81 for a 207.

Bobbie Jones, the defending champion, who had amassed a total of 222 for 34 holes, had not finished at 2 o'clock. He needed a 62, three under par, to tie Cooper.

EUROPE WON'T SEND WARNING TO RUSSIANS

Concerted Action Would Weld
Russ Nationalism Spirit,
Nations Fear

Warsaw Poland.—(AP)—Life imprisonment, with the loss of civil rights, is the sentence pronounced on Boris Kowecwa for the assassination of Peter Volkoff, soviet minister at Warsaw. The court decided, however, to petition the president to commute the sentence to 15 years servitude.

When the trial opened Wednesday the 19-year old student admitted without hesitation that he killed the soviet envoy, but said he was not guilty of murder. He described his act as one of revenge for what the Bolsheviks had done in Russia.

London.—(AP)—Fear of arousing Russian nationalist feeling to a dangerous point has caused abandonment of the plan for a concerted warning by the European powers against further communist propaganda abroad and alleged terrorism by the Soviets at the moment.

In reconsidering their original decision the foreign ministers now in Geneva for the league of nations council have concluded that formal collective action of the nature contemplated might create the impression in Moscow that a united front was being formed against the soviet union.

Poland is understood to have been the guiding spirit in advising against angering Russia by even an appearance of hostility, emphasizing that such an attitude would serve to intensify the Russian nationalist spirit in the same manner as it was aroused at the close of the great war by military interventions.

Nevertheless, according to the Geneva information, there is every likelihood that the German foreign minister, Dr. Gustav Stresemann will consult Mr. Tschitcherine, Russian commissar with the feeling that has been engendered throughout Europe by the activities of the Third Internationale, and warn him in a friendly way that these activities are militating against Russia.

PAPERS ASKS PREPARATION
The Russian newspapers, according to dispatches from Moscow, are laying stress on the necessity of preparing for a foreign war, which they say is a prospect facing the country, but from all appearances, it is declared, the warnings are attracted little attention with no evidence of recruiting, drilling or military activity.

Notwithstanding all sorts of sensational reports printed abroad concerning Russian internal affairs, direct dispatches from Moscow say all is quiet with the population seemingly permitting nothing to interfere with their usual routine and summer pastimes.

It is stated that the recent assassination in Warsaw of M. Volkoff, the Soviet minister, and the resultant exchange of notes between Moscow and Warsaw have not evoked as much comment as the break in Anglo-Soviet relations.

HUNTER, TILDEN WIN IN BRITISH TENNIS MEET

Manchester, England.—(AP)—Francis T. Hunter, American tennis player, Thursday defeated E. Higgs, 7-5, 3-6, 7-4, in the first of a series of British-American inter-country matches, in which Hunter and William T. Tilden are participants.

Tilden defeated Donald Greig in straight sets at 6-0, 6-0, 6-2, making the score in matches America 2; England 0.

GOVERNOR RETURNS 5 BILLS TO SOLONS

Golf Caddie Measure Meets
Disapproval of State's Chief Executive

Madison.—(AP)—Governor Fred R. Zimmerman Thursday sent five bills back to the state legislature bearing the chief executive's veto. Two of the bills related to golf.

A bill by Senator Cashman, providing that supervision of golf courses in state parks be placed in the state conservation commission, instead of prison, failed to receive the approval of the governor, although it had passed both houses of the legislature with only nine dissenting votes.

Another bill, by Senator Morris, would have permitted children between the ages of 12 and 14, to caddy on the golf courses during vacation periods. The governor said this would be a "backward step and an entering wedge to put children to work."

The other three bills originated in the assembly. One provided that the state officers appointed by the governor for fixed or indefinite terms or to fill vacancies in any office, except that of justice of the supreme court and other judges, may be removed only "for cause." Another provided that all inheritance taxes paid into the state treasury in excess of $25,000,000 shall be paid into the school fund, and the last one would attach the present board of review of the banking department.

The assembly ordered an endorsement of the bill under which Governor Zimmerman would be provided with another automobile, at a cost of $25,000.

The lower house was notified by Governor Zimmerman that he had vetoed the bill which required posting of marriage applications would be done away with, the governor saying that "the present law gives what I consider inadequate public notice to these persons of close blood relationship to the contracting parties of an intention to enter into such a contract."

He added that the law regulating marriages should be strengthened instead of the requirements for notices lessened.

The Laffey bill allowed cities to hire special attorneys for their school boards was killed.

Several appropriation bills were advanced to the senate. The bill placing severe penalties on criminal "repeaters" similar to the New York Raffle law, was not concurred in, the vote being 57 to 22 against the senate.

FREE YOUTH IN MURDER OF MOTORCYCLE OFFICER

Elkhorn.—(AP)—A young man, taken into custody late Wednesday by Racine-co deputy sheriffs investigating the slaying of Hans Lindstrom, was released late Wednesday after being questioned.

The Elkhorn motorcycle officer was shot to death Monday night. The youth was picked up at a lake camp a few miles from Elkhorn and was brought to the sheriff's office for questioning. Another suspect, detained earlier in the day, was released after the authorities had checked up on his alibi.

A reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the slayer, or for information leading to his arrest was offered by Walworth-co Thursday.

FATE OF TWO FRENCH ACES YET UNKNOWN

Rumor That Nungesser and Coli Are Found Are Discredited in Canada

Quebec, Que.—(AP)—Rumor that Nungesser and Coli, missing French aviators, had been found on the Shipshaw river, was generally discredited Thursday.

The rumor originated in a telephone conversation an employee of a large corporation in the district north of the Saguenay river had with his mother in Quebec city. He is said to have told her the missing fliers were there alive and safe. Government officials and lumber companies, however, declared they could find no confirmation of the report.

They said the rumor probably was based on flares seen in the county northeast of Saguenay river, which it was thought might have been sent up by the missing airmen.

REPORT MORE FLARES
Chicoutimi, Que.—(AP)—Reports received here Thursday from tower-men employed in the Lake St. John district, stated that they again had sighted Wednesday night what they believed were distress signals coming from the direction St. Germain township.

It is in this district that flares previously have been reported leading to the hope that the signals might come from the missing French aviators, Nungesser and Coli. The tower-men were of the opinion that the flashes were made by fuses.

SCHMIEGE'S BILL TO PUNISH DRUNKS DIES IN ASSEMBLY

Appleton Legislator Wanted to Increase Penalty for Drunken Driving

Madison.—(AP)—In its week-opening sessions, Tuesday night and Wednesday the assembly acted upon scores of important measures, before the matter of the arrest of Assemblyman Schneider in Juneau attracted attention from legislative matters.

Hearing of the assembly's charges against the deputy sheriff and justice who arrested and temporarily held Mr. Schneider interrupted the proceedings Wednesday morning and caused postponement of some of that day's business until a night session.

Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede's bill increasing the penalties imposed on intoxicated automobile drivers was killed. It raised the maximum fine from $100 to $500 and the sentence from 60 days to one year.

The Polakows' bill calling for an investigation of prison labor conditions was advanced to third reading and the $10,000 appropriation bill for the state athletic commission was laid over until next week, pending decision on the Kamel bill withdrawing the commission. The $10,000 would have been for two years work.

The assembly ordered an endorsement of the bill under which Governor Zimmerman would be provided with another automobile, at a cost of $25,000.

The lower house was notified by Governor Zimmerman that he had vetoed the bill which required posting of marriage applications would be done away with, the governor saying that "the present law gives what I consider inadequate public notice to these persons of close blood relationship to the contracting parties of an intention to enter into such a contract."

DEATH ENDS ROMANCE OF ELINOR QUINCY ADAMS

Salida, Colo.—(AP)—Death has ended the romance of Elinor Quincy Adams of Boston, niece of Henry Adams of that city and great-granddaughter of John Quincy Adams, was president of the United States, who a year ago abandoned eastern society circles to marry Claude Simpson, a Rocky Mountain states guide.

The state senate Thursday passed a bill by Senator Goeland, providing full indemnity to farmers incurring losses through the state's bovine tuberculosis test.

Vote on the measure was 16 to 2. The bill also provides that the state shall continue to pay the indemnity for years to come, instead of shifting the burden to counties. The bill now goes to the assembly for action.

Senator R. Bruce Johnson's election bill, applying especially to Superior, was passed in the assembly Thursday by a 61 to 4 vote, thereby sending it to the governor for signature.

OF TRINITY SCHOOL

Graduation Program Will Be Given Friday Night in Parish Hall

Neenah—Norman Koerwitz has been selected to give the salutatory address and Max Siefaff the valedictory address at the graduation exercises of the eighth grade of Trinity Lutheran church school on Friday evening.

The program will begin at 7:45 in the parish hall. It will open with a piano duet, "Polonaise Brillant," by Olga Mueller and Lydia Bergmann. This will be followed by a two songs "Now Thank We All Our God," and "Schöner Frühlings." The class, led by Norman Koerwitz, will give the salutatory address which will be followed by Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and presentation of the class gift to the school by Franklin Heller. Two more songs "Sing the Praise of Love Unbounded" and "Hark, Whilst the Shadows are Falling" will be sung by the class, followed by recitations "Discontent," by Marie Lehl; "Bishop Hatto," by Harold Koerwitz; and "Silent Night, Holy Night," by Dorothy Heilmann. The class will sing two more songs "Golden Sun of Evening" and "Guten Abend, Gut Nacht," followed by a recitation "True Story" by Eleanor Goethe after which the class motto "One Thing is Needed" will be given by Marie Mielke. Alfred Kuehnbecker will recite "Fins Ist Not" after which the Rev. A. Froehlich, pastor of the church, will give the annual address and present diplomas to the 28 boys and girls of the class. After the valedictory by Max Siefaff, the Misses Adelle Tomack and Grace Porath will sing a vocal duet "Take Thou My Hands and Lead Me." The program will close with two short comedies "The Smart Country School" and "The 20th Century Patching Machine."

The class includes: Heinrich Gaertner, Eleanor Goethe, Franklin Heller, Dorothy Heilmann, Norman Koerwitz, Harold Koerwitz, Alfred Kuehnbecker, Marie Lehl, Marie Mielke, Grace Porath, Adelle Tomack and Max Siefaff.

FOURTEEN TEAMS IN SUMMER TOURNEY

Managers Will Meet Friday Night to Arrange Schedules

Neenah—Fourteen softball teams have reported to George Christoph for places in the annual summer tournament starting next week. The schedule will be completed Friday morning. The teams entered are Rotary club, American Legion, Kivianis club, Durham Mixed Cars, Island Druggs, Old Timers, Kimmark Rugs, Hardwood Knobs, Softwood Knobs, Grocers, Kimberly-Clark, Neenah News Times and Neenah Paper company.

A meeting of the senior team managers has been called at the Red Cross office at 7:30 and the junior managers at 8:15 at which final arrangements will be made for the opening games. Seven diamonds have been completed. Two are located in Columbia park; three at Washington school grounds; one in Doty Island park and one in Riverside park.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Miss Petra Gram entertained a group of 35 women Tuesday afternoon at her home on E. Wisconsin-ave in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Harry Christensen was hostess Thursday afternoon to the Ladies Aid society of Our Savior Danish church at its monthly meeting held at the church parlors.

ORDER LINDBERGH STAMPS
Neenah—An order for 1,569 Lindbergh postage stamps has been placed by the local postoffice. The requisition has been made to the government. The stamps will be placed on sale as soon as offices of this class are to be supplied.

CORN

Instant Relief
Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads stop all pain quicker than any other known method. Takes but a minute to quiet the worst corn. Healing starts at once. When the corn is gone it never comes back. If new shoes make the spot "itchy" again, a Zino-pad stops it instantly. That's because Zino-pads remove the cause—pressing and rubbing of shoes.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads are medicated, antiseptic, protective. At all druggists and shoe stores. 35c.

TWO DAY PROGRAM
AT DEDICATION OF MENASHA CHURCH

Congregationalists Will Hold Joint Dedication and Anniversary Services

Menasha—The dedicatory and anniversary services of the new Congregational church will be held on Sunday and Monday, June 19 and 20. On Sunday three services will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning, 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and at 7 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. A. E. Leonard, D. D., will preach the dedicatory sermon on Sunday morning, and Dr. H. A. Miner will give the dedicatory prayer.

The regular choir augmented by a large number of singers will offer special music at each service. Mrs. Susan Murray will be soloist at each service. The evening service will commence at 7 o'clock with a half hour of music under the leadership of Mrs. E. H. Schultz. The rebuilt and enlarged pipe organ will be demonstrated.

The speakers for the day, besides Dr. Leonard and Dr. Miner, will be Dr. H. E. Peabody of Appleton and Dr. T. R. Faville of Madison and other visiting ministers.

The present edifice is a commodious modern church building designed to meet a growing community and has a beautiful auditorium, adequate facilities for religious education, and a spacious gymnasium.

In the summer of 1846, when Wisconsin was still a territory, the Rev. O. P. Clinton, an itinerant missionary, who had five converts as his parish, commenced holding services in an old block house at Winnebago Rapids, now known as Neenah. These meetings resulted the next year in the organization of a Congregational church. Later some of these pioneer families moved over to the north side of the river and started to build Menasha in the heart of the wilderness.

The first religious services on the Menasha side were held in a barnroom of a huge log house used as a hotel on or near the site of the present public library building. From this barnroom after a time the worshippers removed to a school room in a private home on Canal-st. and from there to the old building known as the American House.

On Feb. 16, 1851, 5 men and 16 women, 12 of whom brought letters from the Neenah church, banded together to form the First Congregational church of Menasha. The new church met in a small frame building across the street from the present church location. This building was a school house on week days, church on Sunday and was also used for civic purposes.

It was not long, however, before the congregation outgrew the little school house and a removal was made to Colburn's hall and then to Roby's hall on Main-st. In this hall services were held more or less regularly until Jan. 10, 1859, when the congregation moved into its own new church building on the present site of St. Mary Catholic church. The pastor at this time was the Rev. H. A. Miner, D. D., who in 1857 had taken the leadership of the church.

After a few years it was decided to build again in a more central location and in 1863 the church built the substantial structure which had stood for nearly 60 years at the corner of Broad and Milwaukee-sts. The old structure had long ago been outgrown and tentative plans had been made for a new building but the actual work of construction was not commenced until about a year ago. During the life of the church there have been 20 different pastors, only five of whom are now living. The present pastorate commenced March, 1923.

The building committee consists of H. M. Northrup, chairman, W. H. Miner, F. S. Durham, J. C. Lloyd, E. H. Schultz, Mrs. H. A. Fisher and Mrs. B. Thomas. The architects were Auler & Jensen of Oshkosh; contractors, building, F. J. Oberweiser; plumbing and heating, H. A. McIntyre; decorating, Fred Nielson; lighting and fixtures, Walter E. Held.

TWIN CITY
DEATHS

GEORGE ARNO
Menasha—George Arno, formerly of Menasha, died Tuesday night at Chicago, where he had made his home for the last 30 years. He was born at Kohlersville, Ind. He is survived by his father, Martin Arno; two brothers, Henry and Hugo of Menasha, and two sisters, Mrs. P. A. Mayer of Berlin and Mrs. H. A. Long of Chicago. The body arrived in Menasha at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and was taken to St. Mary church, where the funeral was held.

OSBORNE FUNERAL
Neenah—The funeral of Walter W. Osborne who died Wednesday morning at Theda Clark hospital has been changed to 1:30 Friday afternoon instead of Saturday at the home and 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. D. C. Jones. The body will be taken Saturday to Oxford for burial.

INFANT DIES
Neenah—The 6-week old child of Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer died at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home on E. Washington-ave. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at Oak Hill cemetery.

REPAIR LIBRARY ROOF
Menasha—At a meeting of the public library board Tuesday evening it was decided to make repairs to the roof. The greater part of the session was occupied with routine business.

To Colburn's hall and then to Roby's hall on Main-st. In this hall services were held more or less regularly until Jan. 10, 1859, when the congregation moved into its own new church building on the present site of St. Mary Catholic church. The pastor at this time was the Rev. H. A. Miner, D. D., who in 1857 had taken the leadership of the church.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Miss Corn E. Helgeson of Larson and George M. Giesoff of Menasha were married at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Mary church by the Rev. John Hummel. The attendants were Miss Celia Schipferling and Clarence Resch. Dinner was served to immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents at Larson. Mr. and Mrs. Gieson left on a wedding trip to Milwaukee and Chicago. They will reside at 412 Second-st. Menasha. Mr. Gieson is employed at Menasha Motor Car company garage.

Members of the Third Ward Royal Neighbors club will be entertained Friday morning, June 17, by Mrs. William Redlin, at her home on E. Forest-ave, Neenah. Cards will be played.

Mrs. H. O. Haugh was surprised by a group of friends Wednesday evening at her home, 415 Broad-st., in honor of her birthday anniversary. Bridge was played and the prizes were won by Mrs. Neal DeWolf and Mrs. Carl Lenz.

Forty couples attended the social and dance Wednesday evening given by the Fraternal Order of Eagles for members and their families. The Mel-formia orchestra furnished the music.

Women's Oldest

in hygiene disappearing
—new way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THE worries and fear of the uncertain hygienic ways of yesterday are rapidly passing. 8 in 10 better-class women employ a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards like tissue. No laundry, no disposal bother. Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits lightest gowns and frocks without danger. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt. Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense. Doctors urge this way. Many stores have Kotex already wrapped on counters, ready for you.

to pick up without even asking for it. Try today and you'll never again risk uncertain old ways. Box contains 12. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

FOND DU LAC CAMP WILL ACCOMMODATE VALLEY SCOUT BOYS

Complete Arrangements to Send Local Youths to Camp Shaginappi

Boy Scouts of the Fox River Valley Council will be able to go to camp this summer even if the Valley executives are unable to purchase a campsite through arrangements completed Tuesday by P. O. Keicher, Valley executive, and Walter Zwicker, scout commissioner. The men conferred with the Fond du Lac executive with the result that at each one-week period of the Fond du Lac camp from July 6 to Aug. 4, several local youths can attend. The Valley boys will attend jointly with Fond du Lac youths.

The arrangements allow the council 21 boys from July 27 to 31, from July 13 to 27 from July 20 to 27 and 21 from July 27 to Aug. 4. Of the 22 from July 20 to 27, 20 already have been enrolled. The 20 boys are from Troop 2, the Menasha Woodmenware Co. troop.

Valley boys who desire to attend the camp are urged to sign up as soon as possible as they will be unable to go after the valley quota for each period is filled. Each period of seven days costs $1.50, including meals, lodging, instructions and other incidentals. A registration fee of $1 also is required. Campers are accommodated according to the order in which applications are received, so that the first applicants have the choice of periods. The $1 fee registers the boy for as many periods as he stays in camp, and pays for a full camp hat with the official emblem thereon, an Arrowhead "S" insignia for the shirt or sweater and 100 name tapes for marking belongings.

ON LAKE WINNEBAGO
The camp is named Camp Shaginappi and is located on the east shore of Lake Winnebago, 15 miles from Fond du Lac over Highway 55 to Calumet Harbor. It has trees and wild vegetation, a sandy beach with safe swimming. It is a gift of the Rotary club.

Activities include swimming, instruction, life saving, lectures on life saving methods and boat handling, trail, stalking, woodcraft games, treasure hunts, boat parades, Indian lore, circuses, minstrel shows, spar wrestling, canoe tilting, campfire stunts and nature rambles. The Arrowhead "S" is awarded all first-year campers and a "canoe" is added if the boy has earned at least 100 points during the period. At the end of the third year the gold S is awarded if three canoes have been earned. A flag is awarded daily to the lodge winning inspection honors. An engraved hatchet, signifying the greatest service to the camp, is awarded to the season's best camper. The camp honor belt system records the achievements of each scout on his belt. Points are awarded in 20 different activities.

The first aid department is fully equipped and in addition there are daily lectures and demonstrations. Every Scout is trained to render help in emergencies. First Aid Officers are selected daily to assist the station director in his activities, inspections and reports.

PARENTS ARE INVITED
Parents and friends are invited to the camp. Ample food is provided each day to eliminate sending boxes. When they are sent they are divided among the campers. The camp maintains a bank where the boys may deposit money. Spending money is limited to 20 cents a day. Stamps and nick-nacs are on sale.

The daily program:
6:30—first call; 6:45—setting up exercises; 6:45—morning dip and wash; 7—reveille, flag raising and roll call; 7:05—mess call and breakfast; 7:30—camp cleanup, air bedding, burn trash, etc.; 8—daily inspection by officer of the day; 8:15—morning sing, class Scout definitions; 9—woodcraft, nature study, Indian lore; 9:45—practical Scouting, first aid, signalling, map work, pioneering, whittling, handicraft; 10:20—fatigue duty; 11—swimming, instructions for beginners, speed, strokes, diving, life saving, boat handling, etc.; 12—mess call, dinner; 12 to 2:30—quiet period, writing home, quiet games, maps; 2:30—athletic, competition between lodges in lure and hounds, hikes, treasure hunts, etc.; 4—swimming, contests and aquatic sports; 5—recall, free time; 5:30—retreat, flag lowering, roll call, honor flag awarded; 5:45—mess call, supper; 6:15—voluntary period, games, boating, etc.; 7:30 campfire, stunts, songs and stories; 8:45—call to quarters; 9:15—tattoo, officers meeting at camp headquarters; 9:30—taps.

NEW CALL MADE FOR SOUTH FLOOD VICTIMS

Money for flood sufferers of the Mississippi river valley has practically stopped coming in to the Outagamie-co chapter of the American Red Cross association, P. M. Conkey, treasurer of the chapter, announced.

About $4,000 was collected in the county since the first call was made by Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.

Conditions in the south have not been restored to normal, and much money will be needed for rehabilitation work, it has been said.

Funds sent to the treasurer of the chapter will be sent to the national association for its work in the south which has been extensive but not comprehensive because of lack of money.

FARMERS WILL ATTEND DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM

A delegation of Outagamie-co farmers and Robert A. Amundson, county agent, is expected to attend the annual Farmers' Picnic and Demonstration Day of the Experiment station of the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, at Sturgeon Bay on Thursday, July 14. The program is being worked out now by E. J. DeWiche, agronomist. Green Bay, Mr. Amundson is informed.

formation will direct the inquirer to books and other records available to answer the question. A survey of various constructions of road work throughout the country may be found in a magazine called "Roads and Streets," published in Chicago, Ill., the director stated.

A brief biography of Dorothy Campbell, the author, was given by Mr. Haskin. A catalogue of pictures may be purchased from the Perry Pictures Co., at Malden, Mass., he explained.

Questions on many subjects are received by the director of the service. When accompanied by a stamped envelope, a personal answer is given to the inquirer, and when not so accompanied, the answers are printed in the "Question Box" published on the editorial page of the Post-Crescent.

Inquiries should be addressed to Frederic J. Haskin, director of the Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

WELL DRILLER RETURNS FROM WORK IN KENTUCKY

Louis Lohman, a representative of the Appleton Drilling Club, has returned from Center, Ky., where the club had charge of drilling an oil well last week. The local club was the first to drill a well in the Center field. Since the well was drilled, the oil has risen more than 200 feet, it was reported.

A meeting of the Our Own Oil and Gas Co., has been called for 7:30 Thursday night in the Appleton State Bank building. About 30 members are expected to attend the meeting to discuss the advisability of selling their stock and purchasing new interests.

Several reserve army officers of Appleton and the Fox river valley and their wives are expected to attend a formal dinner to be given at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the Hotel Irtlaw, Fond du Lac, by the Fond du Lac chapter of the United Reserve Officers' association.

Officers of the national guard, the regular army and the reserves of Fond du Lac, Ripon, Oshkosh and Appleton, have been invited. None of the local guard officers are planning to attend.

Gen. Charles Boardman of Oshkosh, brigadier-general of the 32nd division during the World war, and Col. N. P. McClure of Army headquarters at Chicago will be the principal speakers. Col. McClure is in charge of organized reserves affairs at headquarters and will represent the Sixth Corps area.

Approximately 75 persons will attend the dinner. Arrangements have been made with the Maj. A. M. Trier

SEEK INFORMATION ON CHAMBER DEPARTMENTS

Information regarding the transportation and communication departments of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce is being sought by the national chamber, according to Hugh G. Corbett, local secretary.

A questionnaire issued by the national organization will be filled out and the national group will use it for information of other chambers requesting such material. Questions include the advantages of a bureau for transportation and communication such as Appleton; how the traffic bureau is financed and its work, additional transportation work and traffic clubs, motor transportation, how the communication bureau is staffed and financed, inland water traffic work, air traffic work, ocean traffic work, postal affairs and other communications.

ON TRAINING CHILDREN

Inhibitional failures are filling penal institutions; older sisters are depriving their lone brothers of a gambler's chance for success in life and "old maid" aunts are sending more nephews to correctional institutions than have dime novels. Those are the conclusions of Cedric M. Lindholm, of Minneapolis, for several years an adult probation investigator there.

He declares that children who have not been trained in restraint and respect for discipline before their sixth or seventh year are more susceptible to error later in life. Doting parents or other relatives are important factors in such cases. An inhibitional failure is imminent, he believes, each time a nurse or parent picks up a whimpering infant from his crib and quiets him by walking the floor. Regular spankings for the baby, in his opinion, will go a long way toward checking the "crime wave of 1950."

While there is nothing startlingly new in this opinion, it is of value to have the situation again called to our attention. Day by day it is true that parents, relatives and well meaning friends are working toward the failures of the future. It is hard for them to realize that a person learns to stand alone by standing—not by having someone else stand for him. Self-reliance is the cardinal point that may be noted in the makeup of every successful person. Somewhere along the line he or she has acquired that quiet confidence in his or her power to accomplish and to win through in spite of obstacles.

Too constant devotion by parents and friends saps the "staying power" of a child and makes him, later in life, easily discouraged by the setbacks that attack every person. These setbacks can either develop the person who has them or can conquer him. The difference in effect may depend entirely on the early training as a child.

THE VALUE OF RAILROADS

The railroads of this country are one of the principal contributors to our national prosperity. W. G. Besler, first vice-president of the American Railway association believes. He traces the status of the industry in relation to the general business cycle in a very convincing way. "That the railroads are an important factor in the industrial life of the nation is shown by the fact that in 1925 they bought about 22 per cent of the total coal output of the United States and some 20 per cent of the fuel oil production," he points out. "They also took about 15 per cent of the total annual lumber and timber cut in the United States while their direct and indirect consumption was close to 25 per cent. In addition, railroad purchases accounted directly and indirectly for a quarter of the total iron and steel output of the country."

Statistics are usually dry reading, but the foregoing give a graphic picture of the extent of the influence of the railroads' purchasing power, in addition to their service as transportation agents. It is notable in this connection that purchases of fuel materials and supplies by railroads in 1926 amounted to $1,559,032,331, the greatest amount ever spent for that purpose by the railroads of the United States in any year, with the exception of 1923.

The railroads are one of the controlling factors in the economic welfare of the nation. Not only with regard to a number of important commodities are they among the large purchasers, but they also render a vital service to the public in the form of transportation. In addition to this they distribute nearly three billion dollars a year in wages, which are largely paid out by railroad employees in purchasing the products of industry.

RECASTING THE COMMON LAW

Restating the common law of the land is a gigantic task and will take at least ten years to accomplish, in the opinion of George W. Wickersham, president of the American Law institute, who believes it to be the best and only way to clarify and modernize the common law. He points out that the defects of the common law as it now stands are its uncertainties and ambiguities and this he attributes chiefly to a lack of agreement among American lawyers as to the fundamental principles and intent of the common law. He believes that a lucid statement of the age-old fundamentals would be a great help. And so it would, no doubt. There would be at least something done on the great task before this generation—that is, to make the law really a guide to civilization and not the drawback that it is at the present time; to forget precedent, where precedent is no longer consonant with justice.

Under present methods trials are always delayed, rarely satisfactory and full of loopholes through which the ends of justice and equity are continually being frustrated. We need not only a restatement of principles, but a weeding out of all that is useless and unnecessary, and that is plenty. It is safe to say that half of the laws could be scrapped with great benefit to the country.

Legal procedure today is encumbered with the inheritances of the days of pomp and circumstance, when everything was surrounded with form and flourishes, when simple speech was unknown and when delay was considered to lend majesty to the law. Today's needs are vital and they are pressing. We need a new system of jurisprudence, incisive, brief and simple, something that fits our day and age, not a legacy from an ancient time.

TUBERCULOSIS LOSING OUT

Reduction of tuberculosis to a point where it either will disappear entirely or occur only as a rare disease is predicted by a statistician of a large life insurance company, who points to a probable new low mortality record from this cause in 1927 in support of his prediction. During the first quarter of the current year the death rate from pulmonary tuberculosis among the industrial policyholders of the company stood at the astonishingly low figure of 70.9 per 100,000 for white lives. This figure is nearly seven per cent less than that for the same period last year and is an indication that with continued labor, prosperity and the maintenance of high standards of preventative and educational work by public and private health agencies, a rate of 50 per 100,000 may be attained by 1930.

This same statistician made such a prediction in 1922 and every year since the trend has justified it as a reliable prophecy. If he is right then it would seem that the agencies which have been fighting the ravages of the white plague are well on their way to ultimate victory. And it has been a great fight. The problem has been attacked from many angles and with cooperation from laymen and scientists alike. The success of the campaign is the more remarkable because the disease has itself so long defied complete analysis. The various agencies which have worked for many years toward their goal are to be congratulated on the victory which seems now to be in sight. It is an instance where persistent work and ceaseless vigilance have accomplished the desired result.

EARLY SIGNS OF CANCER OF STOMACH

The importance of early recognition of cancer of the stomach lies in this fact: The disease is always fatal unless detected and immediately eradicated surgically before marked infiltration, adhesions, general systemic poisoning or involvement of neighboring lymph nodes has occurred.

Some hundreds of people now living and in good health have been saved by operation from certain death from cancer of the stomach.

Prognosis is fatal when there is a question of cancer of the stomach.

I know something about abdominal operations, from the patient's point of view. If I suspected I had cancer of the stomach or if I were in any doubt about that, I should promptly undergo an "exploratory" operation. Yes, blithely, I verily believe, for one draws multiple indemnities for an operation in a hospital with a lovely nurse and everything.

Let's take off from this fact: You and I have about the same chance of developing cancer, no matter whether there have been no cases in your family or several in mine.

X-ray examination is of uncertain value in early cancer of the stomach.

Any one past 40 who has not been subject to "dyspepsia" or other stomach trouble but now develops such trouble must rule out cancer. Sour eructations, vague discomfort after meals, diminished appetite and especially distaste for meats, in one of middle age or older, should arouse suspicion, especially if the symptoms are new for the individual.

Sudden loss of strength in a person past middle life, with or without slight digestive disturbance, and especially when accompanied with unexplained loss of weight, warrants the suspicion of cancer of the stomach.

On examination the doctor can find a lump, or feel the cancer, in only a third of the cases. But examination of the gastric juice after a test meal gives more definite indications.

Anemia is rather a late sign of stomach cancer, at least anemia sufficiently marked to be apparent without blood counts. "Dyspepsia," loss of strength and weight, with anemia, in a person past 40, point toward cancer of the stomach.

An early sign of great significance is the detection of occult blood in the stool. This test should be made in every suspected case.

In the chemical analysis of the gastric juice, the most positive indications of cancer of the stomach are absence of free hydrochloric acid and the presence of lactic acid.

Pain, if present at all in early cancer of the stomach, is an insignificant feature.

There is no specific test that positively proves cancer, except of course microscopic examination of a section of cancerous tissue. I am not forgetting the Abderhalden test, but only ignoring it—I should not give it any weight.

The safe course, I believe, is exploratory operation when there is a reasonable doubt or suspicion of cancer of the stomach.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Enlarged Tonsils

The tonsils of a child six years old look large and rough, but have never apparently caused any trouble. A physician advised having them removed. Would you agree to that? (Mrs. R. E. L.)

Answer—Not if the tonsils are causing no trouble. X-ray treatments might be advisable, to bring about shrinkage of the tonsils and adenoids.

Red Peppers

I like to eat red peppers (called Cayenne peppers) but some people say they are harmful. I always thought they were stimulant and good for constipation. I do not take them every day, but when I do I take only two small berries chopped in with other food. In the tropics I saw how the small birds looked for them and every one from the trees as they became ripe. (T. P. A.)

Answer—No doubt rich in vitamins, but of questionable value as food. I should not recommend eating red peppers or using pepper in or on any kind of dish. Such stimulation amounts to irritation, rather injurious to the stomach and to the genitourinary organs.

Sleep Posture

From the health standpoint it is better to sleep on your back, side or face down, for either man or woman? (Mrs. F. J. M.)

Answer—Assume the posture you prefer. Curl up or stretch out as you please. The only objection to sleeping flat on the back is that snoring is encouraged by that position.

It Won't Be Long Now

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

ON—

AN AMAZING CASE

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Washington, D. C.—One of the most amazing criminal cases known in the history of this or any other country is that of Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco, avowed anarchists, under sentence of death for murder in Massachusetts.

It created more world-wide commotion of serious character than any case of which there is a record. It has been dragged out for a longer period than any similar cases. It has been the cause of attacks made or threatened upon United States embassies and consulates in Europe, Japan, Mexico, and South America.

It has led, more recently, to an attempt upon the life of Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, through a bomb sent by mail, but fortunately intercepted.

It has inspired petitions for executive clemency from millions of people in this and other countries. It has been the subject of thousands of newspaper articles and editorials, and even a book has been written about it by a professor in a famous law school. It presents the extraordinary features of a conviction on circumstantial evidence and of legal technicalities that are to the disadvantage rather than to the advantage of the accused.

It is, in short, in every sense of the expression, with the French call a "cause celebre," involving as it does national and international politics and governmental principles, although the crime in question was not in the slightest degree political.

What its ultimate effects will be, not even the wisest can say. It is known what the end of the case is to be.

That, it seems, is to be determined by Governor Fuller, although he will have an abundance of able assistance and presumptively valuable advice in arriving at his decision. The governor must decide whether the two alien "reds" are to be electrocuted during the week beginning July 10 next, for the legal situation now is such that no court and not even the President of the United States could intervene. There can not be a new trial. The governor can not pardon the convicted men or change their punishment to imprisonment, or by withholding executive clemency he may let them go to the chair.

History Of Crime And Case
In 1920 a postmaster and guard carrying $15,000 in a shoe factory in South Braintree, Mass., were held up in broad daylight on the street, murdered and robbed by bandits who made their escape in an automobile.

Some three weeks later, Vanzetti, the fish pedler, and Sacco, a shoe-factory worker, both Italians, alone, and anarchists, were arrested on suspicion.

On July 14, 1921, after a trial before a jury in the court of Judge Webster Thayer, in Dedham, they were found guilty of murder in the first degree on evidence which the judge himself declared to be circumstantial.

Numerous petitions for a new trial were denied, the final adverse decision coming from the Supreme Court of the state, but every legal expedient available to men fighting for their lives was resorted to, and such country that it was not until April 9 of this year, almost six years after the conviction, that Vanzetti and Sacco were brought before Judge Thayer and sentenced to death.

Immediately following their conviction, Vanzetti and Sacco became international characters. Through channels of communication of which the average citizen knows nothing the word went forth to radicals all over the world that the men had been found guilty because they were anarchists and not because they had charged against them, that the jury had been composed wholly of conservatives, that public sentiment at the time had been running high against radicals and radicalism, and that Judge Thayer had been so prejudiced that the men could not have a fair trial. This resulted in a world-wide movement in their behalf.

Last year, after the Massachusetts Supreme court denied Vanzetti and Sacco a new trial, United States embassies and legations in France, Switzerland, Argentina, and Uruguay were attacked or threatened by "red" sympathizers of the defendants, and there were hostile demonstrations against our diplomatic and consular officials at Copenhagen, Sofia, Havana, Lima, Tampico, and elsewhere.

Following the death sentence of the anarchists protests and appeals from this country, from Europe, from South America, and from Japan began pouring in upon Governor Fuller and he has been subjected to a flood comparable with that in the Mississippi valley. One appeal was filed by twenty members of the British Parliament. Another came in the name of 500,000 German "reds" and some one assumed to speak for "seven million workers organized in labor and Socialist International."

It is asserted by men and newspapers in this country who are neither "reds" nor "red" sympathizers that the evidence upon which Vanzetti and Sacco were convicted has been reviewed by any other tribunal.

That legal technicalities have prevented the submission and consideration of new evidence that would acquit the men or at least create more than a reasonable doubt, as to their guilt, and that if they die they will be the victims of judicial murder.

Newspapers such as the Boston Herald, Springfield Republican, New York World, Hartford Times, Baltimore Sun, New Haven Journal, Cleveland Press, and Brooklyn Eagle have questioned the guilt of the condemned men, criticized the nature of their trial and conviction, or urged executive interference in view of all the circumstances surrounding the case.

A Harvard professor, William E. Hocking, says that the case reveals "the incredible, the essentially disgraceful situation that men may be sent to their death in Massachusetts because the courts refuse to hear relevant evidence." Prof. Felix Frankfurter, also of Harvard, says, in substance, that the men were convicted primarily because they were radical aliens and draft dodgers, and tried at a time when anti-red agitation was at its height; that they had no previous criminal record; that witnesses who undertook to identify them as the murderers were contradictory and inconclusive; that the men had alibis supported by reputable witnesses; and that a new trial was called for by new evidence unearthed which included a gangster's confession that his gang committed the crime.

Not the least amazing feature of the case is the 500-word petition written by Vanzetti and addressed to Governor Fuller in which he reviewed the trial and the evidence and said that he was not asking for a pardon nor for mercy, but for justice, and urged the Governor "publicly to investigate all the facts of our case and to set us free from that sentence if the findings will so dictate to your understanding and conscience."

He also said that he and Sacco were willing to die for their cause, "but not for the low and sordid South Braintree crime."

Sacco declined to sign this petition, saying that to do so would be inconsistent with his principles as an anarchist.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—Awaiting in the early hours of dawn the coming of a tardy liner, I came upon—quillo by happy accident—the man who, it seems to me, rings up the curtain on Manhattan daily life.

He's an old fellow and he runs a tiny news stand just in the shadow of the Battery immigration station and Staten Island ferry. He's as swarthy and husky as a veteran woodsman. His beard is the color of cloudy steel and his cheeks from long hours in the out-of-doors.

He appears even before the first taxicab. In the rural adage it's the early bird that catches the worm; in Manhattan it's the early taxicab that catches the fare.

When this man begins work the great city seems like a shell of concrete and steel from which all life has suddenly vanished, as though some plague had driven out the dwellers. A light fog swings like a limp dancer's veil from the skyscrapers. A couple of all-night restaurants are lighted and tugs and lighters begin to glide through the glass-like river. A few gulls haunt the spectral wharves and Brooklyn seems like a stage drop of varied silhouettes.

The old man comes at an hour when the fog still carries the tang of sea and kelp. Ten hours later even the water begins to smell of the city; now it has a salty fragrance.

He ambles across the cobblestones, looks about him—above, below and all around—and slowly uncovers the shabby red news stand. Then he makes the city's first gesture; it is a simple ceremonial.

He takes from his pocket a crust of bread, saved from the evening meal, and, breaking it into fine crumbs, begins to sprinkle it in a circle about his news stand.

Gulls and pigeons, seeming to have had previous acquaintance with this signal, already are wheeling about and suddenly desert the skies with a whirl, a swoop and an outburst of chattering.

In a moment the man is surrounded. The bird parade circles about him. With a grand gesture he swings a last handful and, quite mechanically, begins to pile up his stacks of paper.

At this moment—a strange thing happens.

As though timed to the second, a ferry clough into the slip and out come a couple of milk wagons, some vegetable wagons and a dozen sleepy looking workers. The chimneys sound five o'clock. Bums amble out of nowhere, cross the cobblestones and get down on a Battery bench. A stray taxi driver emerges from an all-night coffee house, stretches and begins to loiter in his taxi seat.

Thereafter it is at the drive of a steamer engine—slowly gaining momentum, the city's life is under way. Its streets teeming with traffic, its buildings overrun with the streams of human ants and its crash and roar coming down upon the silence of a few hours back.

Every morning, they tell me, it is so.

The old man with his stand and his birds. His final gesture... the first ferry... and another day.

The Question Box

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. "Do more cities call their organization a Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade? G. N. A. The Municipal Index for 1927 lists 7427 such organizations, 1089 of which are known as Chambers of Commerce. Other names used are: Board of Trade, Business Men's Association, Commercial Club, Association of Commerce, Board of Commerce, and Merchant's association."

Q. How much does a really popular song earn for the composer? J. H. T.

A. The composer and lyric writer may get from twenty thousand dollars to forty thousand dollars evenly divided between them. This includes the royalties on sheet music, player-piano rolls, phonograph records, and so forth.

Q. What industry pays the highest wages? M. T.

A. The building trades contain most high wage rates than any other group.

RENAMING STREETS

By Don E. Monty
Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association

Any number of growing American cities, taking in outlying suburbs, have found that a duplication of street names results from the incorporation.

The problem of renaming streets to avoid this confusion is worthy of immediate attention, wherever it is found.

They had the problem in Clinton, Iowa. Tourists were always misled. There was lack of system. Subdivisions were added without regard to a general or future city plan. The problem was definite, but difficult of solution.

Each time the matter came up the common council did not act. Differences of opinion in group meetings resulted in no progress.

Finally the Chamber of Commerce, believing that the general plan was approved by the people, submitted it to the streets and alleys committee of the council. With few changes the plan was approved and recommended to the council in the form of an ordinance which the city attorney saw was in proper form.

An ordinance had to be read three times and then put on its final passage. Each councilman was seen, all agreed to suspend the rules and have all three readings on one night. In fifteen minutes the whole thing was over.

Several weeks later a renaming ordinance was prepared and passed. Now new signs are being erected and the city engineer is giving each house its official number. Incidentally the whole town is united.

467 BOYS AND GIRLS ACTIVE IN 36 CLUBS OF KEWAUNEE-CO

SPECIAL EFFORTS MADE THIS YEAR TO PROMOTE GROUPS

Outstanding System of 4-H Clubs Organized and Placed in Operation

BY W. F. WINSEY, Special Farm Writer

Kewaunee—Through the cooperation of H. R. Lathrop, county agent, Thomas Frawley, superintendent of schools, Rolfe Nygaard, Smith-Hughes teacher in vocational agriculture, George Greger, Mildred Sangel and others, an outstanding system of 4-H clubs has been organized and placed in operation in Kewaunee-co this spring. Boys' and girls' clubs were started last spring, however, in Kewaunee-co 75 boys and girls enrolled as members, and some very good records were made by the members. Miss Mildred Sangel was champion club member of the county last season and as a result she is to attend the club leaders' conference of the state club department at Madison this week. This spring the membership in the county is 467 entered in 36 clubs. Mr. Nygaard and Mr. Greger are giving their full time to club work this month and they will be joined by Mr. Lathrop on full time in July.

SCHOOL DISTRICT IS UNIT
The school district is the unit of club organization in Kewaunee-co. The school teacher in most districts is the club leader and the meetings are generally held in school buildings. All the leaders are taking a great interest in the work of the boys and girls. The members of the clubs get a 20 per cent credit in agriculture in the school records for their project work. The teacher as leader checks up the work of the club members and gives the credit.

For their project, the girls have selected calves, chickens, garden stuff, corn, potatoes and canning and the boys calves, pigs, and poultry, corn and potatoes.

One of the strict requirements of club work in this county is that the boy or girl is the absolute owner of the project and that the premiums and profits go to the owners at the close of the season.

A local club contest or fair probably will be held in each school building in the county this fall in some central building to give the parents an opportunity to see what the children have accomplished and the club members a chance to compare work. A large number of club members will qualify for entering their products in competition at the county fair. Beside this every club member in the county may visit the state fair in the fall, going and returning by bus at a cost of $3 for transportation, and $1 a day for expenses.

LOCAL CLUB LEADERS
The local club leaders of Kewaunee-co are: Lathrop, Alice Servais; Kewaunee, Edna Wisner; Town of Franklin, Ray Stoffel, Mat Konop, Bernice Melody and Mabel O'Brien.

In the town of Carlton, Loretta Frawley and Joseph Brummer are the club leaders; in the town of Montpelier, Edward Kanski, Edward Stephane, Homer Williams and Lillian Seaborn; in the town of Luxemburg, George Greger, Moses Booter, Walter Wesely, Anna Worachek and Edward Mothy; in the town of Casco, Gerald Burke, Eleanor Greise and Riegi Greger; in West Kewaunee township, Mary Paska, and Mary Rotoczka; in the town of Pice, Edward Hunsader, Helen Greise, Hattie Wisner; in the town of Ahnape, Rolfe Nygaard, Ed Rock, and Vivian Hunsader; in the town of Lincoln, Roy Felt, Caroline Monfils, and Richard Tlochow.

In the town of Franklin, the first 4-H clubs were organized this spring. This was also the case in the towns of Red River and Luxemburg. Gerald Burke of the town of Casco, won the state championship in corn demonstration two years ago.

STILL OLD-FASHIONED
Wood stoves still persist in the majority of the farm homes of New Hampshire, a recent survey shows. Practically all farm wives cook over a wood or coal stove at least a part of the year, 29 out of a hundred have oil stoves for summer and only one has an electric range.

SALVAGING PAYS
It cost Isaac Wiles, of Weeping Water, Neb., $136 to clear the stumps on 10 acres of waste land on his farm. He got $90 bushels of corn, worth $450, as a return the first year. And his land is worth three times as much as formerly.

Kuehl Brown Swiss Cows Prize Winners At Fairs

BY W. F. WINSEY, Special Farm Writer

Kewaunee—Located on the River View Dairy farm, route 6, August Kuehl and Sons are blue ribbon breeders of purebred Brown Swiss cattle and Hampshire swine. They have earned, been awarded and have on display 72 blue ribbons, 15 champion ribbons, 28 red ribbons and 16 white ribbons, presented by the cattle judges of the fairs during the past seven years. Before August Kuehl started raising Brown Swiss cattle, he had a mixed herd of Holstein and Short-horn grades. As there was no ready market for his surplus animals for dairy purposes, and as his milk production in quantity and quality was low, he was naturally dissatisfied and finally decided to chance to purebred cattle.

After doing considerable scouting in the purchased field, Mr. Kuehl in 1921, bought three purebred animals of William A. Dellinger, a Brown Swiss breeder of Auburndale. These animals were Jessie B. M., Molly of Auburndale and Pollyanna of the following year. Mr. Kuehl bought Florence's College Boy, a herd sire, from Jacob Voegele, of Monticello. The dam of this sire produced 18,225 pounds of milk and 722.5 pounds of butterfat. The animals in these two purchases

Invents Device To Dig Up Roots To Kill Corn Pest

J. H. HARRISON AND HIS NEW CORN PLOW.

Peoria, Ill.—What was only a hobby for J. H. Harrison, millionaire farmer, may become a means of salvation for the troubled corn grower. After a long service as inventor of farm implements and other devices, Harrison has succeeded in producing a machine that promises to be the corn borer's most destructive enemy.

The machine is a triple plow, designed to cut three rows at one swathe behind a tractor. Three disks split the roots of the harvested corn plants, small plows dig these up and throw them out on another triple set of eight-pronged forks.

These forks work up and down as the machine proceeds, so that the earth is shaken out and the dry corn roots are thrown out behind. A trailing rake gathers them together for burning.

That gets down to the very root, so to speak, of the corn borer difficulty.

Associations in United States Have Total Membership of 50,000

American cooperative association engaged in marketing poultry or eggs, or both, have a total membership exceeding 50,000 and do an annual business estimated at more than $40,000,000. Records of more than 70 such associations are filed in the United States Department of Agriculture.

The first association of which records are available was organized in 1913. Fifty-five of the associations have been organized since 1920. Although these 70 associations are scattered over 21 states, the majority are located in Minnesota, Missouri, California and Washington.

The associations on the Pacific coast serve members who make a business of operating large poultry ranches, and to a considerable extent this is true of organizations in the eastern states, while the associations in the middle west serve members with small farm flocks.

Two associations in New York city, one in Detroit and one in St. Paul, are sales agencies operating on city markets. These agencies represent several of the large California organizations.

A duck growers' association is located on Long Island, with a sales agency in New York city. This association handles a large volume of business for 80 to 100 members. Duck farming on Long Island is on a commercial scale, and ranches produce anywhere from a few thousand to as many as 200,000 ducks annually. About three-fourths of the duck raisers are members of the association.

The smallest association reporting has 12 members and the largest has about 5,000 the average per association being 1,018.

SOIL SCIENTISTS HERE
Soil specialists from over all the world will meet in Washington, June 13 to 22, at the First International Congress of Soil Science. This will mark the largest gathering of its kind in history and is the outgrowth of work begun in Hungary 17 years ago.

Thirty-nine co-operatives reporting to the Department of Agriculture are handling nuts in this country. They have more than 20,000 members and did more than $16,000,000 worth of business in 1925.

Improved grazing methods have been successfully carried out at the Santa Rita Range Reserve in southern Arizona than has the unregulated range.

are, the foundation of the present herd of 22 head. Mr. Kuehl bought his present herd sire from Schauer brothers, New Franklin.

MILKERS 17 COWS
Mr. Kuehl is now milking 17 cows that produce 562 pounds of milk daily, testing from 2.9 to 4 per cent. Jessie B. M., 11 years of age, one of the foundation cows, produces 56 pounds of milk daily, testing 4.1. Molly of Auburndale, another foundation cow 7 years old, produces 49 pounds of milk, testing 4 per cent. Daisy Jess, 4 years old, 49 pounds of milk, testing 4.1. Brownie, a grade cow, 11 years old, 59 pounds of milk testing 2.7 per cent; and Lola, a grade, 5 years old, 41 pounds of milk, testing 3.5 per cent.

Since Jan. 1, Mr. Kuehl sold four milks, two of which went to Luxemburg and two to Tuck Mills. But he is not selling many animals as he is still building up his herd to thirty or more animals.

SHOWY ANIMALS AND GOOD PRODUCERS IN E. F. SCHWANTES HERD

President of Kewaunee-co Association Building Fine Guernsey Herd

BY W. F. WINSEY, Special Farm Writer

Kewaunee—One of the successful breeders of purebred Guernsey cattle in Kewaunee county is E. F. Schwantes, president of the Kewaunee County Guernsey Breeders' association. He started farming on his own hook in 1913 with nothing better than a herd of native cows and a few grade Guernseys. As he had worked with a better herd on the Chestnut Hill farm, Youngstown, Ohio, from 1908 to 1912 and had seen better looking and better producing cows on that farm than his own, he decided to change to purebreds. He had brought two purebred Guernseys home with him from Ohio in 1912 and delivered them to William Larson, Fern-Dell farm, Green Bay, and that proved an additional incentive for him to build up a herd of Guernseys.

When he was ready for the anticipated change, Mr. Schwantes visited the Holendale farm, Athens, Wis., and bought his first purebred Guernsey bull in 1913. The dam of this bull had made a record of 9,000 pounds of milk and 467 pounds of butterfat. In 1917, he also bought imported Adair of Linwood, imported Lassie of Linwood, and Belva of Linwood, from Homer Rundell, Livingston. The dam of Lassie had made a record of 375 pounds of butterfat as a two year old. This bull and these three cows are the foundation animals of Mr. Schwantes' present herd of 42 head, including 20 cows.

HAS GOOD HERD SIRE
The present herd sire of Mr. Schwantes is Corium Prospects Gaston, 2 years old, from the Corium farm, Fond du Lac. His dam is Debuties Twinkle of Prospect with a production record of 13,291.5 pounds of milk and 623.7 pounds of butterfat class A. This sire is direct descendant of Cherubs Prince, whose daughters produced 635.65 pounds of butterfat.

Mr. Schwantes is as much interested in a showy type of cattle as in big production. What he prefers is a combination of type and production ability. As he has made considerable headway along the line of his ideal, Mr. Schwantes has greater admiration for his heirs than for his older animals.

In his herd, Mr. Schwantes has three daughters of imported Lassie of Linwood, sire of Caesar of Linwood, that approach his ideal of perfection. The dam of Caesar of Linwood made a record of 10,700 pounds of milk and 501 pounds of butterfat, as a 3-year-old. May of Edgewood, a daughter of imported Adair of Linwood, is producing 40 pounds of milk a day as 2-year-old. The three daughters of imported Lassie of Linwood, are Caesar's Princess of Edgewood that as a 3-year-old produced 6,000 pounds of milk and 325 pounds of butterfat, Caesar's Polly of Edgewood, and Caesar's Pride of Edgewood. These two latter cows are very good producers.

In winter Mr. Schwantes' herd of 22 cows produced 400 pounds of milk daily testing 4.5 per cent and at the present time it is producing 500 pounds which goes to a neighboring cheese factory.

Since Jan. 1, Mr. Schwantes sold six head of purebreds including two heifers, Old Meadows with some clover and alfalfa are supplying pasture for the Schwantes herd. In winter the feed of the herd is alfalfa hay, silage and ground feed raised on the farm.

BIG TEAMS HELP
Many of the few Illinois farmers who beat the weatherman in their spring work did so with big teams, says E. T. Robbins of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. These hitchers reduce the time and side draft and enabled the horses and mules to do more work in a day.

GRAINS FAIRLY GOOD
"Of the spring sown grains, oats and barley look more uneven and small than they did a year ago but their condition is slightly better than the five year average." Winter wheat and spring wheat are both better than they were a year ago and considerably above the five year average in condition. Feeds while looking fair are not up to the condition of a year ago.

"Corn planting in the state was delayed from ten days to two weeks but good progress was made after the clear weather came. Indications are that corn planting is now mostly completed in the state and considerable cultivating has been done.

Look at your SHOES!

A shoe unshined is like a face unshaven, teeth unbrushed, hair uncombed! Nothing can make you look so seedy as dull, dusty, unshined shoes. Why look shabby when in two minutes—with Shinola or 2 in 1 Shoe Polish—you can put on a shine you can see your face in?

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve pain of Sciatica is to get a bottle of Allenru Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Continue faithfully and in a reasonable time you should be able to work and rest in comfort once again. Schintz Bros., Voigt's Drug Store, keeps Allenru Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO FARMERS NEAR LEEMAN

Leeman—Mrs. Schroeder and daughter Lillian called on the farmers of this region Wednesday taking orders for a shipment of salt, to be purchased through the Farmers' Equity.

Abe Gugette purchased 200 baby chicks recently. Matt Peterson of Stephansville, purchased a heifer from Samuel Strong, Jr., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Beyer of Shiocton, called on several farmers of this region Thursday Mr. Beyer was out buying cows.

M. G. Colson has been blowing out stumps and clearing land the past two days.

Several of the people of this region have radishes, lettuce and spinach large enough for table use.

Some remodeling on the Leeman cheese factory is being done this week.

WISCONSIN COWS ARE HIGH IN FAT

Waukesha Associations Ended Year With Average Record of 309.8 Pounds

Waukesha—One hundred-fifty pounds of butterfat represents the wide gulf that separates 4,302 cows in Waukesha-co from the ordinary cow in the United States.

While the average cow was barely able to produce 1600 pounds of fat, as computed by the federal department of agriculture, Waukesha associations ended the year with an average record of 309.8 pounds of butterfat.

But the average Wisconsin cow lacks 120 pounds of equalling the record of the cows tested in the six Waukesha associations last year.

Persistent testing, improved dairy practices and better homelife are the reasons given for the high production records.

CORN GROWS FASTER
Fertilizer tests at the Ohio experiment station near Wooster show that the development of late planted corn was hastened by use of a high-grade complete fertilizer in the hills or rows. Maturity was noted to advance from two to three weeks.

DON'T OVER-GRAZE PASTURES, EXPERT WARNS DAIRYMEN

Too Frequent Cutting or Too Early Grazing Kills Out Grass, He Says

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin farmers were warned this week by L. F. Graber, University of Wisconsin agronomy department, not to "over-graze" their bluegrass pastures.

Giving statistics from experiments with the growing and cutting of the grass that forms most of the pastures and lawns, the agronomy expert told the farmers who listened to him through radio station WIFA of the University, that it had been definitely proven that too frequent or too early cutting of the grass killed it out.

"This is exactly what happens when blue-grass is grazed heavily and closely during its immature period of growth in May and June," he said. "Many fertile bluegrass pastures are only living from 500 to 700 pounds of dry feed an acre annually at premature stages of growth. After the bluegrass has been headed out, it can be eaten off closely without injury to the development of the roots. Where we allow maturity in blue-grass we find that the root development is enormous."

TOO SOLVE PROBLEM
Mr. Graber than gave a solution for the short-feed problem so that farmers might avoid early and heavy grazing of their pastures.

"Supplementary pastures are the remedy," he said. "To get the most out of blue-grass, we must plan a system of pasturing which will relieve the heavy strain that is being placed upon bluegrass." He said that supplementary pasture crops like "such early pastures as winter rye, which begins its growth early in the spring, and which could be grazed for a period of two or three weeks then plowed for corn," would assist in solving the problem. "Sweet clover, mixed with timothy, is a great supplementary pasture crop, and because of its very high carrying capacity, it offers a wonderful opportunity to aid in the avoidance of premature grazing of bluegrass."

He concluded with the admonition that "pastures need more attention," and said: "There are millions of acres of hilly lands in permanent pasture which are not and should not be plowed. The yields on these can be doubled and trebled with judicious management."

OVERHAULS FARM BATTERIES

Diamonds and Diamonds

A KING of industry, once said, "There never was anything made but that someone else could make it for less."

Some day you will be the intending purchaser of a diamond or fine jewel piece. Then it is you will hear the claims, counterclaims and various titles given this sought-after gem. To the judicious, these all reduce themselves to the one word, namely reputation. For thirty years we have enjoyed a diamond reputation, and this reputation has been earned, for we have shown and sold only fine gems — and throughout the years have steadfastly adhered to the truth.

WAUPACA NINE LOSES TO ANTIGO TEAM, 5-8

Waupaca—Waupaca's team lost, 5 to 8, to Ed Stump's team at Antigo, Sunday, June 12. Waupaca virtually "kicked" the game away, presenting Antigo a run in the first inning without the semblance of a hit. Again in the sixth three runs were counted by the Stumpians on two short hits through the infield. In the eighth a wild on balls, three stolen bases and a bunt throw combined to chase three more runs across for Antigo.

Herb Christensen, Antigo's ace right-hander, was pitching steadily and with sterling support held Waupaca runless until the seventh inning when two hits and a sacrifice produced one run. In the eighth Waupaca tallied three runs.

Charles Larson of Waupaca, won high over all prize, at the shooting tournament at Manitowoc. There were 67 shooters at the meet. Weather conditions made the scores quite low.

The retail market men of Waupaca and vicinity, held a $50 banquet meeting at the Elwood hotel, New London, June 14. There were about twenty-five present. The evening was devoted to general business discussion.

The Royal Neighbors of Waupaca, entertained the Dale camp of the Royal Neighbors Tuesday. The program was arranged by the Waupaca camp, and an evening lunch was served.

HOLLYWOOD OUTDOES SELF TO PROVIDE PULCHRITUDE FOR "FASHIONS FOR WOMEN"

Once again the finger of destiny points to the most beautiful girls in Hollywood.

The last time the motion picture colony was combed for outstanding beauties was when "The Dressmaker From Paris" was being made.

This time it was for "Fashions For Women," directed by Dorothy Arzner. Paramount's girl director, and starring Esther Ralston. The picture is at Fischer's Appleton Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

Practically all the fourteen girls selected as paramour in their particular style of beauty for "The Dressmaker From Paris" have achieved eminence in films since that picture was made.

Among them were Jocelyn Lee, now under contract to Paramount; Sally

Rand, a 1927 Wampus Baby Star; Dorothy Senstrom, now a prominent leading woman; Olive Ender now a Fox star; Yola D'Avril, now a leading woman in the free lance field, and Euzenia Gilbert, also a prominent player.

History is expected to repeat in the case of the fifteen girls selected as the most "symmetrically beautiful" of Hollywood by Miss Arzner. They are Marjorie Finley, Constance Finley, Lorraine Eddy, Ethel Sykes, Joyce Clark, Jean Lorraine, Bess Flowers, Estelle Etterre, Beth Laemmle, Marie Perle, Doris Hill, Iris Ashton, Dixie Davis, Edwina Booth and Hazel Howell.

They were selected after tests had been made of more than 200 of Hollywood's most beautiful girls. Several of them have had no previous motion picture experience.

MARJORIE DAW HAS FINE

ROLE WITH TOM MIX
Marjorie Daw gives the screen one of her most emotional scenes in the concluding sequence of "The Outlaws of Red River," Fox Films latest drama starring Tom Mix at the New Bijou three days starting today.

CONWAY BUYS TWO LOTS AND WILL ERECT HOME

John Conway, president of the Conway Hotel Co., Wednesday purchased two lots on E. Collegeave from Miss J. B. Thomas and started preparation at once to erect a home on the property. The lots have a frontage of 120 feet on E. Collegeave. A house now on the property will be moved off. Mr. Conway and his family now spend the winters in the Conway hotel and the summers at their summer home on Lake Winnebago.

child, killed her parents and abducted her. Mix, in the role of a Texas Ranger who has been hunting for the gang to liberate the girl, crashes into the outlaw stronghold just in time to save her from one of the younger members of the band who has killed the old leader for protecting the girl.

The rescue gives Miss Daw an opportunity to display a wide variety of her emotional possibilities.

Appearing with Mix and Miss Daw are Francis McDonald, Arthur Clayton, William Conklin, Ellen Woodson, Lee Shumway, Virginia Marshall and Jimmy Downs.

COUNTY TRACK MEET IS WON BY SPRING BROOK

First place in the county track and field meet held here a few weeks ago between rural schools of Outagamie-co was won by Spring Brook school, district 4, Cleora. It was announced this week at the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. The school will be awarded the Post-Crescent trophy.

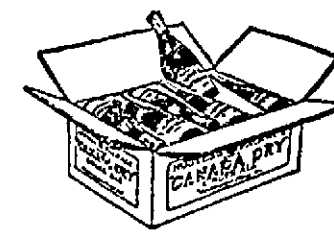

Individual honors went to Peter Enrico, a student at Spring Brook school, who won three first places for 15 points. It was chiefly through his efforts that his school took the meet. He will be awarded the individual Post-Crescent trophy cup.

The running broad jump, the one event which had to be postponed at the meet because of rain, was held Monday in connection with commencement exercises here and was won by Peter Enrico, Herbert Spaulde, North Oshorn school, placed second, and Lawrence Clausen, Hill View school, was third.

Leaders For 43 Years In Plumbing and Heating Work — We Have Installed the Heating Equipment in the Enlarged Geenen Store

The formal opening of the enlarged Geenen Store will be held on Friday, June 17th and we take pride in the part that we have played in supplying and equipping this splendid addition with modern day heating equipment.

Interesting Facts About Plumbing and Heating

For more than forty years the W. S. Patterson Co. have been in the plumbing and heating business. W. S. Patterson, a pioneer in the work was one of the first steam heating equipment engineers in the country. He knew every detail of what was then, a radical departure in the way of heating homes, offices and buildings.

Today the W. S. Patterson Co. are still leaders—not only in steam heating work, but in plumbing as well. Many important jobs have been entrusted to them because of a reputation for conscientious work that has lasted for almost half a century.

We Maintain A Separate Heating Department

To meet the demands that are made upon our engineers for W. S. Patterson Heating Systems, installed the W. S. Patterson way. This includes—Steam Heating, Hot Water Heating, Vapor Heating.

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

By Anne Austin

THIS HAS HAPPENED
T. Q. CURTIS does three girls from his big department store into his home as his wards for one year because he wants to help them further ambitions each has expressed. BILLY WELLS, anxious to be a concert violinist, is the only one of the three that is serious. The others—NYDA LOMAX and WINNIE SHELTON—like to enjoy the old man's wealth and generosity.

Billy becomes infatuated with DAL ROMAN, nephew of Mrs. MEADOWS, the hostess. Unknown to T. Q., the girls learn he intends to adopt one of them when the year is up, and when and Nyda turn the house into a place of intrigue.

T. Q. begins to question the wisdom of his philanthropy when he observes that Billy is neglecting her music and Nyda is not after all interested in becoming a kindergarten teacher as she has said.

One night, Nyda, who is ill, asks Billy to get a book for her from the library. Billy complies, and while there breathes a string of beads. As she gathers them up, the butler, SAWYERS, comes in and finds her slumped.

Q's safe in which are valuable diamonds. When Billy returns to her room, she hears a low whistle, and stealing into the garden meets Dal Romano. As she is returning from this rendezvous, she sees EDDIE BANNING, Nyda's former sweetheart, speaking in low-voiced conversation which the lawyer needed to her grimly, but T. Q. greeted her with his usual grave courtesy.

Dinner was a painful ceremony that night. Nyda was still very pale and subdued; Winnie, who had returned from her father's bedside with encouraging news as to his condition, had been told of the robbery by Mrs.

She was profoundly grateful for the fact that she had an engagement for the evening with Druce Kruger, Constance Bradley and Constance's latest young man.

When she returned at midnight, Meadows, and sulked a bit at not being allowed to talk of the exciting event.

Just before dessert was served, Sawyer brought Billy a telegram, which she tore open with trembling fingers.

"Off for Chicago. Don't worry. Will wire developments. Courage, Clay," was the laconic message, but it was enough to make her heart beat fast with excitement and hope.

She offered no explanation of the telegram, and T. Q., though he had studied her face keenly as she read the message, asked for none.

When the meal was over, Winnie skipped to the old man's side, and, linking her arm in his and cuddling her cheek against the sleeve of his dinner coat, asked coaxingly: "Aren't you going to have a private detective to work on the robbery, Daddy Curtis? It's just an awful shame to lose all those lovely presents you gave us."

"Oh, Daddy Curtis, darling!" Winnie cried remorsefully. "I didn't mean that! You know I didn't! But you always were the most generous dear in the world."

"I have every hope, however, that the things will be returned," T. Q. said distinctly, and Billy was sure that his eyes flicked an appeal to her.

"He thinks I'll confess and return the miserable stuff," Billy told herself, as she hurried from the room.

mitted when Billy received her second telegram from Clay Curtis. It was as brief as the first: "Driving from Chicago. Arrive about nine tomorrow morning. O. K. Clay."

"I wish he wouldn't be quite so economical," Billy laughed, as she tucked the precious yellow slip of paper under her pillow. "I'd like to know just what he means by O. K."

Fortunately the next day was Sunday. There was little danger that Nyda or T. Q. would leave the house before nine o'clock, the Sunday breakfast hour.

Billy was in such a state of nervous excitement that she could not eat, a fact which Nyda, Winnie and T. Q. seemed to note, each with different emotions. They were still sitting around the breakfast table, each with a different section of the Sunday paper, when Sawyer threw a bomb into the quiet dining room:

"Mr. Clay Curtis is calling, sir."

T. Q. sprang to his feet, incredulous joy succeeding blank amazement on his stern old face.

"You say—my son—is here, Sawyer?"

"I've shown him into the library, sir," Sawyer coughed, as T. Q. was planning out of the room. "He also asked to see Miss Nyda and Miss Billy, sir."

Billy glanced swiftly at Nyda. The beautiful face went suddenly white.

T. Q. Curtis came slowly back to the table, his keen narrowed eyes studying Nyda's betraying face. "I don't know what my son wants, Nyda, but—well, better join him. Will you take my arm?"

ing the door? I don't want my friend here to leave unceremoniously. Sit down, Banning!" Clay turned from a quick handshake with his father to bark the order to the sullen-faced man who subsided into a chair in the middle of the room.

"I'm glad to see you, son, but—I'm afraid I don't understand," T. Q. began ceremoniously.

Nyda had halted at the door, and Billy, afraid that she would try to escape and almost hoping that she could do so, took her place by the steepled girl's side.

"You will pretty soon, Dad. Sorry, but will you stand aside? Do you recognize this man, Nyda?" His left hand fell heavily upon Banning's left shoulder, but his right hand did not leave his pocket, which bulged with hideous suggestiveness.

Nyda passed her tongue over her dry, open lips, nodded and finally spoke in a gasp. "It's—It's Eddie Banning. I—I used to know him."

"Used to know you, dammed double-crosser!" Banning shouted, his face livid with hatred. "Looka here—"

"Look here yourself, Banning!" Clay sprang forward to grasp the raging man by the arm, while the bulge in his pocket protruded into Banning's ribs. "Sit down now, and stay there!" He forced him into a chair, then, with the concealed pistol still pointing through his pocket, addressed his father.

"Billy came to me the other day, Dad, and told me you thought she'd stolen a lot of stuff out of your safe. You ought to have known better than that, Dad. She told me a lot of suspicious things about Nyda and Eddie Banning, things she'd been too honorable to run to you about, but which pointed to some close connection between Nyda and this scoundrel here. She couldn't tell you, even when you accused her of the theft—"

"I didn't accuse her, son," T. Q. protested, passing a shaking hand over his bewildered eyes. "She could not satisfactorily explain her actions of that night—"

"She shouldn't have to!" Clay retorted hotly. "She's not a child, to be held accountable to you or anyone else. But she admitted to me that things looked black against her. At any rate, I got on Banning's trail in short order—I thought he'd light out for Chicago and he did—and I found him there, trying to pawn the stuff. He'd pawned two or three things here and there—I've got the pawn tickets with me—but the rest he still had on him when I caught up with him. No use going into the story of just how I did it. I told him Nyda had confessed to her part in the robbery—that she'd admitted letting him into the house and out again, and had given him the combination of the safe—"

"It's a lie, Eddie! It's a lie!" Nyda screamed. "Oh, he'll kill me now, he'll kill me!"

"You're damned right I will!" Banning struggled to free himself from Clay's grasp. "A fine wife you are, squealing on your own husband! But you'll go to jail with me!"

"His wife!" Billy's sharp cry of amazement shattered the sudden silence in the room, just before Nyda Lomax clumped to the floor in a faint.

Nyda confesses in the next chapter and T. Q. proves himself a merciful man.

LIGHTIES PUT ON REAL BATTLES FOR COLONEL CHARLEY

Baker Stops Hudkins, Terris
K. O.'s Goldstein in Slugging Bouts

New York—(AP)—Two fights of the kind every boxing fan dreams about but seldom sees go down in the annals of the ring as the fruit of a single evening. In battles that were vicious in their ferocity, Sergeant Sammy Baker stopped Ace Hudkins and Sid Terris knocked out Ruby Goldstein at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night. Forty thousand fans whose admission money went to help the cause of the Catholic Boys Clubs looked on and howled and whooped. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was at the ringside as guest of Mayor Walker.

The victory for the soldier—fighter Baker, was a technical knockout in the seventh. Terris won by a plain old fashioned knockout in the first after he had been downed for a count of nine.

Whether for sweet charity's sake or whether to impress the world champion of the air Colonel Lindbergh, every one of the four was fighting the battle of his life.

More than ever before in his ring career Ace Hudkins wanted to win that fight. He and Lindbergh had known each other in Lincoln, Neb., back when "Lindy" was learning to fly and Ace to fight. But the "Flying Sergeant" from Mitchell field, New York was too much for the Ace.

GLICK ADDED TO BAYS TO STRENGTHEN TEAM

Green Bay—In an attempt to put his team back on the road to Pennantville, Manager Joe Glusman of the Green Bay Valley league club has signed Eddie Glick to work behind the plate.

Glick has played a lot of ball in this part of the state and is rated as a first class catcher. Last year, he was Lewellen's battery partner at Algoma and the pair were rated as the best in the Cherry league.

The new catcher is a peppery individual on the diamond and he should be able to put a lot of fight in the Bays, who haven't been so lively of late.

WESCO ADVANCES INTO SEMIS IN CUP TOURNAY

Only one second round match was played this week in the battle for the 1927 President's cup at Butte. Joe Morris Country club, P. C. Wesco trouncing G. N. Pratt, 8 and 7, and advancing with Neil Spoor and Ralph McGowan to the semi-finals of the meet. Matches now carded are:

First round—Ken Dickinson vs. F. V. Heinemann; second round—Charles McKenny vs. winner of Dickinson-Heinemann match; semi-finals—McGowan vs. Spoor and Wesco vs. McKenny, Dickinson or Heinemann.

ROEHRIK TO HURL AGAINST APPLETON

Kimberly Loop Leaders All
Set for 5th Straight Win
Sunday

Kimberly—The revamped Appleton baseball team will be the attraction at Kimberly Fox River Valley League team crosses bats with the Appleton aggregation. Appleton will have Brautman and Shields in its infield which will plug up the weak spots in the old lineup. Kimberly will put the same team on the field that has won the last four league games for the locals and is responsible for their resting on top of the heap. Roehrick is slated to twirl against the Appleton squad while Martjes will do the receiving. Schell will be at first with Marty Lamers on the keystone sack. Boots Lamers at short and Butch Theln at third. Pope will convert in left field with Cooke in center and Les Smith in right field.

Though the Kimberly team had little trouble with the Appleton squad at Appleton a different game is looked for at Kimberly. The affair at Appleton was strictly a Kimberly day with the Appleton team way off its game. Green Bay, the only team to slip a win over on the Kimberly aggregation, was defeated by the new Appleton lineup.

Glick throws well to second and he should have little trouble hitting well in the Valley circuit.

According to Manager Glusman, Lewellen and Glick will be the points for the Bays in the game here Saturday against Neenah at Ellington park while on Sunday at Kaukauna. Joe Schuetto will toe the mound with Glick on the receiving end.

MANAGERS UPSET PRESEASON DOPE

Detroit Fails to Place Among Leaders While Chicago Surprises

While the life of a major league umpire is often far from an enviable one, there are apparently several tougher jobs in baseball.

George Moriarty, who first started as a big league player, became one of the best umpires in baseball and is now manager of the Detroit Tigers, is well fitted to discuss the toughest job in baseball.

Incidentally, I am positive that George wouldn't pick umpiring as the hardest of the three, player, manager and umpire, all of which he has tasted.

"Two hours is usually the limit of an umpire's work unless the game goes into extra innings, but a manager worries all 24 hours, if he can't go to sleep, which is often the case," explains Moriarty in drawing a comparison between the two positions.

The failure of the Detroit Tigers to get away to a flying start has immediately put the burdens of managing a big league club up to Moriarty for a quicker solution.

In the American League this year, we find two decided contracts from a managerial standpoint in George Moriarty and Ray Schalk.

Taking over the Detroit Tigers, a team that had always threatened under Cobb but invariably faltered in the stretch, Moriarty was conceded to have the makings of quite a ball club.

Some of the experts went so far as to pick the Detroit Tigers to win the pennant, which required a most optimistic temperament. Less optimistic scribes expressed the belief that the team would prove to be the dark horse of the race, which after all, can mean anything.

On one thing all critics agreed in sizing up the possibilities of Detroit, the team could hit, regardless of any other faults it might have.

During the first two months of this year's play, the Tigers have failed to do the very thing every one agreed they could, while the tar out of the old baseball.

Instead of getting away to a good start, the club has seldom been better than .500 and most of the time has been in seventh place.

Ray Schalk, who, like Moriarty, is making his debut as a big league manager, has met with just the opposite conditions.

None of the experts who toured the spring training camps, even mentioned the White Sox as a possible pennant contender. When Johnny Mostil was lost, the club was counted out by many.

Instead of being an also ran, Chicago, favored by the pitching, which Schalk has handled with excellent judgment, plus timely batting and the breaks, has been the surprise of the race.

Since managerial ability is judged by the games won column, Ray Schalk is being hailed as a great manager, while judgment is being reserved on George Moriarty.

I know both Schalk and Moriarty to be two of the smartest players I have ever come into contact with. Each knows the game thoroughly. It is one thing to know it, however, and quite another to get results.

I feel pretty positive that George Moriarty is convinced that managing is tougher than umpiring, that Ray Schalk, despite his early season success, thinks it harder than catching.

Over 25 years of close study, I have discovered that managers cannot steal bases, produce timely hits or fan the batsman in the old pinch with the bases filled.

Some years ago when Miller Huggins took over the New York club, he didn't immediately start to win pennants and was forced to take quite a few on the chin from his critics.

Then followed three pennant winners and one world championship team in quick succession. Huggins was immediately hailed as a great manager. Always the diplomat, the Willy Huggins, when interviewed as to his success, told the story in a few words when he said:

"Star players make great managers. A manager can direct the play but he cannot execute it."

As the late Tim Lincecum, famous umpire of other days, once said, "Umpiring may be a tough job at times but you simply can't beat the hours, 3 to 5."

AMATEURS WATCHED IN OPEN GOLF MEET

Jimmy Johnston Leads 62
Survivors With 147; Jones
Six Behind

Oakland, Penn.—(AP)—Two amateur golfers were warily watched by a score of professionals as the final 36 holes of the United States open started Thursday. "Jimmy" Johnston so called because his name is Harrison, led the field of 62 survivors with a score of 147, compiled through the combination of 73 in the rain and 74 under a shining sun. Harrison is a Minneapolis amateur with a reputation in his own community of being good enough to win the open or any other golf competition.

The other amateur in which much of the professional interest was shown is Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., present title holder in the United States and Great Britain, resting at the start of the third round in a tie for tenth place with a score of 153 for 36 holes. The champion was not expected to remain so far down the list, although he was six strokes behind the leader.

The hunt for title honors was regarded as anybody's race when the first pair started out on the long double grind soon after breakfast. Brisk, clear weather prevailed Thursday. The fairways were springy and the greens fast as lightning.

JOHNSTON SLIPS BADLY
Slipping badly on the same nine holes that proved so difficult for him Wednesday, Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, Minneapolis amateur, took 42, five over par, for the outgoing half of his third round Thursday in the National Open Golf championship, jeopardizing the lead he held at the start with his 147 for the previous two days' play.

Johnston's second shot on the ninth sliced to the rough but he chipped dead and just missed a seven footer for a birdie four. His card:

Johnston out 365, 554, 445—42.

Jackie Donohue beat Nick Quagarello (4).

Murray Layton shaded Jimmy Mendoza (4).

Car owners waste $52 apiece in needless repairs each year

How to avoid needless car expense

THE failure of lubricants to master deadly heat and friction needlessly costs the car-owners of this country more than a billion dollars each year in repair bills—an average of $52 for every car in this vicinity.

Needlessly—because there is one oil—Veedol—that successfully resists heat and friction, the two causes of 75% of all motor repairs. Veedol keeps a thin tough film of oil between all the whirling flying metal surfaces in your car. Not even the heat developed in the modern motor can penetrate that fighting "film of protection". Destructive friction has no chance to begin its insidious work.

In Veedol, Tide Water technologists perfected an oil which masters heat 100 degrees hotter than the hottest friction-spot in your car.

Let Veedol guard your motor against repairs—and your pocketbook against repair bills. Drive to a dealer who displays the orange and black Veedol sign. Always ask for Veedol by name.

STATE HONORS FOR LEGION POST ARE DEEMED PROBABLE

Organization Already Has Been Honored for Membership Showing

Oney Johnston post of the American Legion is in line for several high state legion honors, according to post officers. The post already has been awarded the distinguished service order, given to those who exceeded last year's membership by December of the next year. The Johnston post exceeded its entire 1925 membership by December 1926.

The post has a big lead over others in the state for the E. C. Otto cup, awarded annually to the group with the largest number of members over the preceding year. The post has 203 more members now than at the end of last year and its work along this line has given the Ninth district the lead in the state. Another award which the Johnston post has a good chance for is the Pender trophy, awarded annually to the post which does the best community civic service.

The Pender trophy went to Kenosha the first two years it was awarded, 1922 and 1924, and to Valders last year. Kenosha won it the first year mainly through the cooperation in organizing a city civic council. The local post has done that this year and also has been a leader in several other community enterprises.

The Ninth district, of which Appleton is a part, has a good lead in the race for the Wisconsin department district membership cup. This cup is awarded annually to the district that shows the biggest percentage increase in membership over the previous year. The Ninth district has an increase of 9 per cent over 1926 or 100 per cent of last year's membership.

The Appleton post is given credit by the district leaders for this mark. In only one legion membership competition is Appleton behind and that is for the city of the Ninth district having the largest percentage increase in membership this year over last. Appleton led with 51 per cent for some time but now Antigo has taken the lead with 63 per cent.

"READING CIRCLE" TO FIND OUT POPULARITY

Madison—(P)—The state department of education's "Reading Circle" is attempting to find out how it is "going over" in the schools of the state. Under the leadership of M. H. Jackson, a secretary in the department here, the circle promotes reading among teachers and pupils of graded, high and teacher-training schools and awards seals and diplomas for completion of certain readings.

Local school patrons are also permitted to enter the reading circles and are awarded similar honors for completion of suggested cycles of books. A questionnaire is being sent to county superintendents, who in turn will gather the reports from rural and city teachers in their counties, giving the number of students, teachers and patrons in the various divisions of the circle who have completed the work, or play, as they may consider it.

The superintendents are asked to have the filled-in questionnaires in the department of public instruction offices by June 15.

According to the estimate of one specialist there are 14,000,000 bobbed heads in America from which 25,000 tons of hair have been sheared.

UNIVERSITIES CREATE BILLIONS IN WEALTH

Madison—(P)—How state universities create billions of new wealth in return for the millions of tax money contributed to their support is told by Regent John C. Schmidtmann of the University of Wisconsin in an article in the May number of the Current History magazine.

Mr. Schmidtmann traces the rapid growth of publicly supported education in the United States during the past century as a prelude to his survey of the way in which the universities have made science the million-handed servant of agriculture and industry.

"The great basic industry of farming has been completely reconstructed under the leadership of agricultural experiment stations the Wisconsin regent writes, 'and in one state at least, Wisconsin, the alarming exodus of the people from farm to city has been definitely checked.'"

Mr. Schmidtmann concludes with a prediction that the people of the United States will continue taxing themselves to support state universities adequately and that the higher education will not be forced to depend, as it did a century back, upon philanthropy.

8,180 SHIPMENTS ARE RECEIVED BY EXPRESS

A total of 8,180 shipments were received at the local office of the American Express company in May, according to W. N. Kimball, local manager. This is an increase of approximately $80 over the same month last year when 7,337 shipments were checked.

There were 2,517 shipments sent out of the city and 5,663 were received. A slight decrease over the number shipments checked in April was noted. The decrease was smaller than usual, however, because business seems to be flourishing here.

17 BOYS ARE ENROLLED FOR CAMP MANITOWISH

The number of Appleton boys who will attend Camp Manitowish, state Y. M. C. A. camp at Boulder Junction, this summer was increased to 17 Friday, according to John W. Fugh, local boys' work secretary, in charge of the enrollment. The latest addition to the list are William Foote and Aloysious Gage. Both will attend during the H. Y. club training period, the final week in August and the first week of September.

POSTOFFICE STUDIES INSURANCE OF BAGS

Insurance of suit cases and traveling bags was discussed in a recent announcement from the United States postal department to the Appleton postoffice. With the vacation season approaching, traveling bags will be presented in greater numbers. The bags or cases should not be locked or otherwise fastened against inspection and should have fully addressed labels affixed in such a manner they will not become detached in transit. Suit cases or traveling bags addressed by means of a tag only should not be accepted. It is not necessary that such articles be wrapped or boxed unless the senders desire insurance against abrasion, scarring or scraping, it was pointed out.

It is advisable that the names and addresses of the sender and of the addressee be placed on slips of paper inside of the cases or bags to identify the articles should the tags and labels outside be torn off or become obliterated, it was said.

There are 312 distinct Indian tribes in the United States and possessions, all controlled by the office of Indian Affairs.

Gray Haired Men and Women— Read!

Do you really want to banish your gray hair? If so, there is a quick and sure way. Just make this test—as thousands of other men and women have done.

Do not even consider using ordinary artificial colorings which are messy and difficult to apply—yes, awkward and frequently embarrassing because they change the hair coloring completely overnight. Just get a bottle of Kolor-Bak at this special sale price today and use it as directed. You will find that with the aid of this clean, colorless liquid, gray hair regains its natural shade gradually but surely—almost imperceptibly. A week is often sufficient to accomplish the change; and in that time Kolor-Bak not only changes the hair coloring but gives it a beautiful, lustrous softness and rids dandruff besides. Be fair to yourself and to Kolor-Bak. Give it a trial. No sample of hair necessary when purchasing. The same bottle is for any gray hair. Try it—at our risk. If desired results do not appear, your money will be returned. Guarantee in each package.

It takes more than a literary genius and a clever artist to create a superior motor fuel. Fine words and pretty pictures can't put into ordinary gasoline those characteristics that it does not possess. Nor can you change the nature of a "critter", be it horse or gasoline, by calling it by some other name.

"Delcol Benzol" is not a "trick" name for gasoline. Here is a motor fuel that is distinctly different—that has certain superior qualities because it is different. Delcol Benzol is a perfect blending of high test gasoline and pure motor benzol. It has all the good qualities of both of these fuels without the disadvantages of either.

The Delcol Benzol standard of performance is recognized today as the measuring stick by which to judge any motor fuel. But the only way in which you can ever learn how much superior Delcol Benzol is to ordinary gasoline is to try it. Wait until your gas tank is almost empty—then fill up with Delcol Benzol. Now let your motor demonstrate the Delcol Benzol standard of performance.

R. H. L. in his daily "Line O' Type Or Two" in the Chicago Tribune said:

"One of the biggest four bits' worth of value we ever got for our money was a visit to the Convict Ship at the State Street Dock. It's like turning back the clock, and after you see the way men and women were herded on the ship, taken for a voyage of thousands of miles, the paths they made in the hard teak deck, the whipping post, the airless dungeons, the branding iron and the leaden tipped cat-o'-nine tails as punishment for people who had stolen perhaps a piece of pie, one gets the idea humanity is getting on."

WHEN THE CONVICT SHIP WAS LAUNCHED IN FAR AWAY INDIA IN 1790--

- 1--Appleton was only a fur trading post.
- 2--Buffalo was the western frontier of America.
- 3--George Washington was serving his first term as president of the United States.
- 4--The Battle of Waterloo was still 25 years in the future.

ROMANCE

To view her massive yellow hull, stamped with the sinister black, broad arrows of the British penal system; her tall and mighty spars, which formerly flew her arrow-marked sails in many latitudes; her graceful figurehead, reminiscent of the days when fine deep sea ships were loved as women; and her stately quarter decks and broad stern, is to whiff the great salt water ocean and realize something of ships and men of other days.

For she has sailed the Seven Seas, plowing her way through waters and winds in many climes, with cargoes ranging from precious jewels of the Orient to wretched and suffering human beings herded below her decks like cattle. Nabobs of India and Siam have sipped tea on her quarter deck. Dusky princesses of the East have been entertained in cabins. Hundreds of pitiful prisoners have died in her dungeon cells.

Pirates have chased her and more than one desperate battle has been fought across her solid decks. Her massive hull and her mainmast still bear the marks of pirate shots fired at her by black flagged ships in the Indian Ocean.

Today she is the last vivid reminder of the master sea fictionists of another day, authors like Clark Russell and John O'Boyle O'Reilly, whose pen pictures antedated the red-blooded, blue-sea, stories of London, Melville and Conrad. She forms your only chance to see a ship like those of which you have read.

PATHOS

She is a floating monument of the most pathetic human drama ever played; a startling reminder that 100 years ago, and even less, women and little children, as well as men, were punished with life-long suffering and ignominy for trifling offenses. Aboard her may be seen the ringbolts and chains to which were fastened beautiful girls, often convicted wrongly, but nevertheless compelled to helplessly endure the terrors of a voyage of six months or more, completely under the domination of brutal warders.

While young women became gaunt and wrinkled, boys and girls of eight and nine years of age transported for stealing apples or a two-penny pie, became hardened criminals from the sights they saw and the punishments they endured. For age and sex did not spare the victims of the convict ships from the heavy irons, the cat-o'-nine tails, the whipping posts, the branding and the tiny air-tight dungeon cells below the water line to which they were thrust for the slightest infraction of the rules.

There is shown the figure of Elizabeth Stott and her child, transported for life, after death sentence had been commuted by the king, to the penal settlement of far off Australia, for the alleged forging of the equivalent of fifteen dollars. What became of them after she boarded the ship and was placed in irons, God only knows. The records are mute.

No story ever written, no sermon ever preached, no drama ever acted, no scene ever thrown upon a silver sheet can vie in pathos with the silent testimony of this ancient vessel and her original cells and tortures, every one of which you may actually see and feel during your visit.

HISTORY

The convict ship teaches more strikingly than a thousand-page volume of hundreds of photographs the story of human progress through three centuries. She was a link between the Orient and the Occident in the days when, as the price of the vast East India Company's fleet, she carried wealthy noble passengers from England to India, and returning, brought invaluable cargoes of tea, spices, silks and jewels from Calcutta to London. As a dread felon transport, she carried miserable and often innocent men, women and children from England to Van Dieman's Land and the penal colonies at Botany Bay, Australia, starting the growth of a new continent.

She was an outpost from all traditions, from all the civilized world, from humanity itself, when, moored in Hobson's Bay, Australia, she was a hulk or floating prison used for the torture of those condemned to a living death in a prison which, as can be vividly seen, makes the Bastille, the Kremlin and the Tower of London at their worst seem habitable. She created maritime history when, under her own canvas and unescorted, she sailed from Australia to England, and then from England to the United States, crossing the broad Atlantic in 96 days. Since her arrival in this country she continues to make history, the number of her visitors ranging into the millions, far outstripping that of any exhibit ever shown here.

THIS WONDERFUL VESSEL HAS MADE HISTORY THROUGH THREE CENTURIES

She is the oldest ship in the world, and the only convict ship left afloat out of the dreadful fleet of ocean hells which sailed the Seven Seas in 1790 A. D.

She is unchanged after all these years, nothing being omitted but her human freight and their sufferings from the cruelties and barbarities practiced upon them.

She has held lurid horrors and dreadful iniquities beside which even the terrible stories of the Black Hole of Calcutta and the Spanish Inquisition pale into insignificance.

A CHILD OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The American Revolution, putting an end to the transportation of convicts and white slaves to the Virginia colonies, brought about the settlement of Australia and the creation of the dread fleet (of which the Success was flagship) as carriers of convicts to Botany Bay.

Aboard her are now shown, in their original state, all the airless dungeons and condemned cells, the whipping post, the manacles, the branding irons, the punishment balls, the leaden-tipped cat-o'-nine tails, the coffin bath and the other fiendish inventions of man's brutality to his fellow man. She marked the beginning of the end of England's monstrous penal system.

From keel to topmast she cries aloud the greatest lesson the world has ever known in the history of human progress.

EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD

Today the old vessel, sole survivor of that awesome fleet spared by the relentless Hand of Time and the fury of the seas, is often called by educators, thinkers and clergymen, the Eighth Wonder of the World, less ancient, but of tremendously more human interest than all the other seven combined.

► THE CONVICT SHIP WILL NEVER AGAIN BE SEEN IN WISCONSIN ◄

Your opportunity to visit her is NOW. If you do not seize it, yours will be the regret at not having seen the greatest and most extraordinary exhibition that ever visited this state. When you walk her decks, grooved with the chains of her miserable victims, the past will speak to you its sad, mournful lesson, but you will leave feeling better because you live in a better age. Wealthy Americans spend millions annually in visiting Europe's old castles and their prisons' dungeons. Today you can walk alongside the oldest and most notorious floating prison the world has ever known. Do not miss this profound illustration of one of the most vital factors in the betterment of the age. During the period of the ship's stay in Green Bay the public will be admitted aboard daily from 10 A. M. to 11 P. M.

JACK LOCKWILL IN THE AIR

Springing into Jack's roadster, outside the hotel, the boy and the aviator sped away to the Athletic Field. There they found a crowd of students around the black airplane. The pilot attached the canvas-wrapped parachute to a hook set into the floor of the rear cockpit, and asked for two boys to come forward and flip the propeller to start the engine. "Get in!" he said to Jack.

Tom McNally and Jack's roommate, Willie Darling, sprang forward to the propeller. Betty Darling ran to Jack, who clasped her hands and kissed her impulsively.

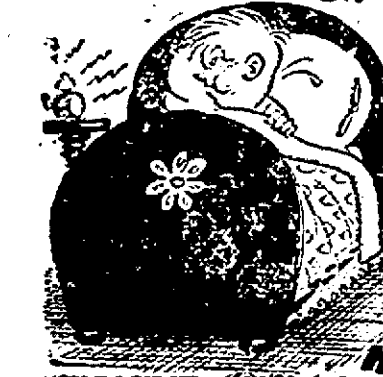

"Oh, do be careful, Jack!" begged Betty, apprehension in her eyes. Then Della Wayne, Betty's chum, came running up to them and gave Jack a swift kiss.

"Don't worry, Betty," said Della, her confident face aglow. "Jack knows how to take care of himself." "Come on, lad!" called the pilot from the forward cockpit. Jack climbed in and buckled the safety belt around him. "Turn her!" cried the aviator to Darling and McNally. "Drop flat when she starts!" They obeyed, and the engine responded instantly. The plane started.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSHOMANS WIN HARD
BASEBALL GAME FROM
ELECTRICIAN TEAMTransfer Men Take 6 to 3
Battle After Interesting
Fight

Kaukauna—Homans won a hard victory from the Electricians Wednesday evening at the municipal playgrounds, the final score being 6 to 3. Peters had edge on Mortes in the pitching duel, allowing but six hits while the latter was knocked for 12 safe clouds.

Last year's champs started to score early when they brought in two runs on two hits in the first inning. In the second half the Electricians tied the score, only to have Homans forge ahead in the first half of the second. This ended the scoring until the last of the fourth when they scored it. The score again was tied. In the very next, C. Phillips were good for one run, and Zwick was the only one to hit safely in the Electricians' half of the fifth, hitting the Transfer men, started on a rampage. Hits by Peters, C. Phillips, Engstrom and Hass came home for the Transfer men in the sixth on consecutive hits. Mortes got as far as a hit in the last of the sixth on a third by himself and a sacrifice hit by Evans. Wagner went in as a pinch hitter in place of Ives in the Electricians' half of the seventh and lived to Peters.

Score by innings:

Homans ..... 2 1 0 0 1 2 0—6
Electricians ..... 2 0 0 1 0 0 0—3

Lineups:

Homans—Peters, Hass, Grebe, Pahlke, Towles, C. Phillips, L. Phillips, Engstrom and Hamer.
Electricians—Mortes, McMorro, Brooks, Rieth, Ives, Evans, Engstrom, Weekwerth, Kinney and Zwick.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grebe have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Eva Pearl, to Theodore Zwickler. The ceremony will take place at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, June 21 in the Trinity Evangelical church. The Rev. Paul T. Oehlert will perform the ceremony. The couple will live at Kaukauna. Mr. Zwickler is principal of the Lutheran parochial school.

Mrs. E. J. Bolinski entertained the Tuesday Evening Bridge club at her home Tuesday night. The time was spent in playing cards.

The U. R. club met at the home of Mrs. Edith Treppow "Wednesday" evening. Games were played and part of the evening was spent in sewing.

The Women's Missionary society of Immanuel Reformed church will hold a bake sale at the Mass Hardware Co. starting at 1 o'clock Saturday, June 18. Members of the committee in charge are Mrs. Frank Towles, Mrs. A. Stegeman and Mrs. Theodore Webster.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON WONDERS OF FLORIDA

Kaukauna—Mrs. C. W. Stribley spoke on Florida at the regular meeting of the Kaukauna Rotary club Wednesday noon. Mrs. Stribley explained the wonders of the state. The club decided to hold its annual picnic at High Cliff on Sunday, June 25. Excursions will be extended to the Neenah, Appleton and Green Bay clubs to come and join the local organization at its picnic. Plans are being made to entertain approximately 200 people at the picnic.

ADVANCEMENT CLUB
CLOSES FOR SUMMER

Kaukauna—Activities of the Kaukauna Advancement association will be suspended during the summer. It was announced by President Ben Pugh on Wednesday. Mr. Pugh said members much preferred to spend their time out of doors to attending meetings. The next meeting of the club probably will be held the last Wednesday in September. Another discussion of the hotel question will be held at that meeting.

BEGIN FILLING PARK
BACK OF HIGH SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Workmen started Tuesday to haul dirt for filling in the campus of Kaukauna High school between the school building and the tail race south of the building. This section of the campus will be made level with the grounds in front of the school. It is possible that this part of the high school property will be used for a modern athletic field.

INSTALL NEW WINDOWS
IN FIREMEN'S QUARTERS

Kaukauna—The firemen's sleeping quarters at the fire department are being repaired. New types of windows being installed. The old windows saving out from the building while it will be possible to open the new ones at the top as well as bottom. It is expected that the work will be finished by the end of the week.

BUILD FENCES AROUND
TWO GRADE SCHOOLS

Kaukauna—The building and education committee of the board of education expects to receive the new fencing for the grade school grounds the latter part of this week. As soon as it comes it will be placed. Men from the Cyclone fencing Co. will do the work. The new fence will be placed along the west side of the park school property and north of the sidewalk along U. S. Highway 41. At the Melet school grounds the fence will be placed west of the sidewalk along the playgrounds that skirt state trunk Highway 55. This fence is expected to prevent children from running into the street.

LEGIONAIRES BEGIN WORK ON WALL ALONG RIVER

Kaukauna—A group of members of the Kaukauna Post of the American Legion, will start work on the river wall in front of the Legion building and the high school, Sunday morning. The water has gone down sufficiently so that work can be started. It is expected that a group of members will turn out every day from Sunday on to help complete the work.

Plans of the local Legion post call for widening the strip of land between the river and Oak-st. The land will be filled in with rocks and dirt covered with earth against which it will be seeded for a lawn.

A. Wagner is chairman of the committee in charge of the work.

PRIEST TO CELEBRATE
HIS 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Kaukauna—The Rev. C. Ripp, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination on Tuesday, July 26. A gala day is being planned at the church to celebrate the occasion. It is expected that a large number of guests will be present. Plans have been named chairman of a committee to arrange for a program. Members of the committee hope to have Bishop Paul Rhode of Green Bay at Kaukauna for the day.

FENCE ON BRIDGE

Kaukauna—A fine mesh fence has been placed along the railings of the Main-ave. canal bridge. There were large openings between the bars in the railings and city officials feared children might fall into the canal.

Defies Age by Using Ordinary Buttermilk to Beautify Complexion

Tells Voigt's Drug Store Not To Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream
Shows a Decided Improvement

Big Demand for New Package Amazing
Druggists

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that while it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crown's feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Hildebrand's Buttermilk Cream.

IMPORTANT: Even the finest face creams fail if the soap you use is harsh. Hildebrand's Buttermilk Cream Soaps keeps skin smooth, soft and pliable.

MARION TALLEY TO SING CONCERT HERE EARLY IN OCTOBER

Young Kansas City Girl Will Feature Next Community Artist Series

Marion Talley, the 19-year-old Kansas City girl who made a sensational debut at the Metropolitan opera house in New York city this year, and is still the talk of the musical world is the feature of the Community Artists series in 1927 and 1928 with a concert at Lawrence Memorial chapel Oct. 7. This will be her first appearance this side of Milwaukee where she sang this spring, and probably will be her only Wisconsin engagement the coming season, it was stated.

Louis Graveure, international baritone, will sing in a concert here in November when the date has not been fixed for his extraordinary recitals. His repertoire includes more than 500 songs in French, German, Italian and English. His recital programs are noted for their unusual and beautiful contrasts.

Pablo Casals, acknowledged on three continents as the greatest violinist alive, will play in Appleton, Jan. 25, 1928. Such musicians and critics as Eugen Ysaye and Fritz Kreisler have spoken of him as the greatest interpretive artist and the greatest musician who has ever drawn a bow. Others have called him the equal of Fritz Kreisler. His coming to cities has been hailed for two decades as one of the musical features of the season.

The famous German pianist, Walter Gieseking, who was comparatively unknown in this country until this year and suddenly was acclaimed as one of the greatest living pianists, will give a concert here Feb. 9, 1928. He played in Milwaukee this spring and there as he has done in every other city where he has played. He has been acclaimed one of the great interpretive artists of the day.

The English Singers of London, who made a success in their Appleton appearance as well as in other cities of the United States last season, will return here March 18. The group of six men and women who were the season's outstanding musical success gave 90 concert in 22 weeks and six sold out recitals in New York city. They have made of part singing a new and unusual art and have planned programs for the discriminating musician and lay listener.

Miss Talley started as a choir girl and stepped into fame in one night as a prima donna soprano in the world's greatest opera house, without the influence of wealth and with little European training. She has a freshness of voice, brilliance and beauty, and a touch of genius, critics have said.

Police reserves were called out to manage the crowd numbering thousands who failed to gain admission to her first performance. During the first year she made 24 appearances at the Metropolitan Opera house in leading roles, and 60 concert appearances to capacity houses.

Tickets for the artist series will go on sale Sept. 1, 1927. Carl J. Waterman, dean of Lawrence conservatory of music announced.

LOCAL SHOOTING CLUB IS NOT VERY ACTIVE

Except for participation in the monthly tournaments of the Northwestern Wisconsin Trap shooting association, the Appleton Angling and Shooting club has been practically inactive so far this summer.

Use ARZENE For Nasal Catarrh

Head aches, colds, sinus trouble, hay fever, asthma. Few drops in nostrils opens air passages, cures head like magic. Feels wonderful. Only 60c. Try it when you buy it. Get some results in the spot or don't take it. Ask your druggist. Nothing like it. Pleasant, harmless.

active so far this summer. Although the club purchased a new grounds near Neenah last fall, only a few practices have been held. The local club joined the association, composed of Green Bay, Kaukauna, Manitowish, Oconto, Appleton, and Coleman, last summer.

The next association shoot will be held at Manitowish in July and Appleton will play host to rivals from the five cities here in August.

URGES CITIES TO ASSERT RIGHT TO SELF-GOVERNMENT

Legislature Still Clings to Policy of Dictation by State, Speaker Says

Sheboygan—(P)—The legislature and the different divisions of state government are still clinging zealously to the right of the state to dictate policies of municipalities despite the Home Rule law, Frank R. Bentley, Madison, counsel for the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, declared Thursday before the league's annual meeting.

Only through incessant efforts on the part of municipalities themselves, he said, asserting their rights to the grant of self-government, will they retain them and reap its benefits.

"The cities can only in this way," he declared, "meet the constant legislative, administrative and judicial effort to minimize and defeat the rights given them by the constitutional amendment."

"The League of Municipalities with a membership now of more than 125 cities and villages is in a position to assert itself in demanding of the legislature and those who represent such units, much more favorable legislation than they have been receiving, and a restoration of the benefits which heretofore they have received in the way of revenues, but which from time to time has been taken from them by legislative enactment. Unless this is done, and unless there is given to the municipalities sources of revenue in place of that which has been taken from them and turned into the State treasury, local taxes will constantly increase, and the burden upon the tax-paying people will become so great as to become unbearable, and when that situation obtains, revolution begins.

"Local self-government is fundamental in the American constitution and in American principles. The right of local governments to receive from its own revenues, sufficient for the legitimate execution of its powers, to meet its obligations, and for the enforcement of its governmental functions without overburdened taxation is likewise fundamental. We have obtained the former under the Home Rule Amendment; the latter has not been secured, largely because we have not been assertive of our rights in such a manner as to demand them from the lawmaking body and from governmental state agencies.

The sooner there is a concerted, positive action on the part of the League of Municipalities to this end, the sooner these rights will be established. Then, and not until then, will our local taxation burdens be lessened, and we become that which we were originally and constitutionally designed to be.

"The action of the present Legislature in reference to laws affecting municipalities, is not conspicuous for what it has done so much as for what it has not done. Thus far, there have been approximately thirty new laws, either by way of amendments to, or creating new statutes, directly affecting towns, cities and villages, but only in minor respects. Many of the important bills which the League has sponsored and hopes to have enacted into law are still in the hands of committees with both favorable and unfavorable considerations.

"Thus far, the attitude of the legislature, in so far as it concerns provisions for revenues for local governments is to take from, and add nothing to them."
